JAPAN REPORTS
SOVIET MILITARY
ACTIVITY ON VAST SIBERIAN FRONT

Unusual Preparations All
Way From Ural Mountains to Vladivostok—
Troops Concentrated Around Nomonhan Hill.

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN THAT SECTOR

Two Units Invading Man-choukuo Repulsed—
Hsinking Appeals to Tokyo for Direct Protest to Moscow Over Air Raids.

BY RUSSELL BRINES.

HSINKING, Manchoukuo, July 18 (AP).—Japanese-protected Manchoukuo asked today that the Japanese Government protest directly to Moscow against recent Soviet Russian air raids on Manchoukuo railway centers.

Previous protests have been sent by Manchoukuo to the Russian-protected Outer Mongolian government at Ulan-Bator-Khoto, with no apparent effect. Japanese believe that some, if not all, of the raiding planes are based in Outer Mongolia.

The Japanese army in Manchoukuo reported that unusual military preparations were in progress across the entire 5000-mile extent of Siberia, from the Ural mountains to Vladivostok.

Of more immediate concern to the Japanese command was a large Soviet-Mongolian concentration north and south of Nomonhan Hill on the disputed Manchoukuo-Outer Mongolian border.

Fighting Reported Continuing. Fighting was said to continue in the Nomonhan sector after two invading Mongol troops were repulsed Monday. Other Mongol troops may have entered Manchoukuo north of this battle zone where no Japanese troops were stationed.

The border warfare between Soviet-Mongolian and Japanese-Manchoukuo forces had developed into an extremely serious situation, Japanese officials said.

One authoritative source said the next two days would determine whether the fighting would spread. It has been continuing sporadically since May 11.

Officials have been awaiting a formal Mongolian reply to a protest against Soviet air forays into Manchoukuo before determining their course.

An authoritative source declared the Japanese army, not Tokyo, would determine what steps would be taken. He said the situation would result either in diplomatic negotiations, probably at Moscow, or in Japanese reprisals for the bombing raids.

Retaliation Is Threatened. The Manchoukuo protest was against a raid on Furuorji, about 400 miles from the Outer Mongolian border. The protest threatened retaliation against Soviet air forays into Manchoukuo.

Bombardment of Halunarah, the authoritative source said, apparently was prompted by one of two reasons. Soviet forces either were attempting to destroy the Nonni River bridge and Halunarah station, thereby cutting Japanese communications and preventing transportation of reinforcements to balk a possible Mongol offensive, or they were attempting to broaden the fighting front. Japanese, he declared, were trying to keep it localized.

The source pictures events as leading, possibly, to a second Russian-Japanese war, in which the advantage would lie with Japan if it started warring to destroy the Khalka River. This bank is some 300 feet higher than the eastern shore and Japanese feel they may have to drive across it in self-defense, new fighting develops. The major front in any new fighting, it was believed, would be opposite Halunarah, along the southern part of the boundary.

One official said he feared that if the Mongolian reply to the protest were not conciliatory a battle might result.

Two anti-aircraft guns were erected in the heart of Hsinking, near elaborate eight-story buildings housing the Manchuria Telegraph, Central Bank and other businesses.

City Cigarette Tax Enforcement
Starts; Tavern Owner Arrested

Police Watching for Evasions of Two-Cent Stamp Levy—Fines to Run From $5 to $500.

Enforcement of the municipal cigarette tax stamp ordinance began today, with orders by Police Chief John H. Glasco to policemen to arrest any person selling, or offering for sale, unstamped cigarettes. The order which went out to district commanders, included a brief explanation of the ordinance, which carries a penalty of a fine of $5 to $500.

The only arrest reported by police during the forenoon was that of William Perkich, owner of a tavern at 3701 North Broadway. He was booked and posted $500 bond for his appearance in Police Court Saturday.

Yesterday 1930 merchants paid approximately $17,300 for 877,000 stamps, the bulk being of the 2-cent denomination required for standard packages of 20 cigarettes. During the four-day sale, which began last Thursday, there were 4240 purchasers, each of whom was required to pay $1 for a cigarette merchant's license, besides paying for the stamps. A 10-per cent discount in the price of the stamps is allowed for the work of attaching them to the cigarettes.

The sale continued today in the rotunda of City Hall, where a special force of clerks is on hand. There were few early customers. Receipts of the advance sale of stamps, and $1 license fee, approximated $51,875. Proponents of the tax expect it to produce $800,000 annually for municipal revenue.

The 4240 stamp buyers were less than half the original estimate of 10,000 purchases, made by License Collector Fred A. Renick. The Collector, who later revised the figure to 7000, said today he had over-

Sale of cigarettes by the carton increased materially over the week-end and some dealers said there was a 50 per cent increase yesterday, in advance of enforcement.

An executive of a chain cigarette store said a Post-Dispatch reporter that some persons bought as many as 10 cartons. Large increases were reported by the tobacco departments of two department stores.

The tobacco buyer for a drug store chain said sales increased so much that it probably would be several weeks before it would be possible to determine effects of the new tax on normal day-by-day sales.

SHERIFF IN DISGUISE
CAPTURES DESPERADO

Ex-Convict Russell, Surprised at Arkansas Tourist Cabin, Shows No Fight.

OSARK, Ark., July 18 (AP).—A Sheriff disguised as a fisherman captured Jack Russell, suspected kidnaper-killer, near here today without firing a shot.

A desperate fight had been expected from the escaped Oklahoma convict who was sought for the murder of Billy S. Hamilton, one of three men seized with their automobiles along the fugitive's zig zag trail from Oklahoma into Illinois and Wisconsin.

The Sheriff, Champ Crawford, of Franklin County, was accompanied only by a constable when the capture was made.

Crawford received information from Richard Hill, constable, that a suspicious looking car was parked beside a tourist camp cabin near Mulberry Creek.

"I disguised myself as a fisherman," Crawford said. "I had on an old pair of overalls and had my fishing tackle in my left hand. I drove to the camp and parked my car."

"Russell came out of the door of his cabin and spoke to me. He wasn't suspicious. I stuck my hand in my pocket where my old .45 was and said 'Don't move Russell, I got you.'"

"He didn't say a thing at first. Then he said, 'All right, I won't move.'"

Russell's pistol was on a bed in the cabin.

"What all have they hung on me?" Crawford quoted Russell as asking.

He denied he killed "that boy in Chicago," referring to Hamilton.

Russell admitted he had killed the kidnapped "boy in Oklahoma and a Negro in Kansas City."

TANKER SAVES 209
FROM BURNING SHIP

American Craft Rescues All
But 3 of Passengers and Crew of Japanese Liner.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 (AP).—The Marine Exchange said today 209 of 212 persons reported aboard the Japanese freighter Bokuyo Maru were rescued shortly before the ship sank in flames 112 miles east of Yokohama. Earlier reports had placed only 110 aboard the 8619-ton vessel.

The Bokuyo Maru, operated by the NYK Line (Japanese mail steamship company), left San Pedro, Cal., July 2. It had put in there after a cargo of nitrates, loaded at Valparaiso, Chile, began smoldering in the forward hold.

Capt. L. E. Hawkins of Oakland, Cal., master of the rescue ship, said the three casualties included two crew members and one passenger. He gave no details of the mishap in first messages.

Executives of the oil company said the survivors would be taken to Honolulu unless a transfer to another Japanese ship can be made at sea. Master of the Bokuyo Maru was Capt. S. Amano.

The Marine Exchange reported details were contained in a private radio message to the Associated Oil Co. from its tanker Associated, which picked up survivors.

The tanker Associated was eight days out of Honolulu en route to Manila.

It was reported the Bokuyo Maru carried no Americans either as passengers or crew. All aboard were Japanese and Hindus.

At Los Angeles, I. Nishimura, NYK (Japan mail steamship company) representative, said most of the Bokuyo Maru passengers presumably were Orientals en route to America.

'CLEAN BILL' FOUND
FOR MANHASSETT
AND LUCAS-HUNT

County Grand Jury Reports Write-Ups at 'Villages' Were in 'Accordance With Custom.'

OMMISSION OF FIRE
ESCAPES REMEDIED

No Other Violation of Spirit or Letter of Law Revealed, Body Says in Its Return to Court.

The Manhassett and Lucas-Hunt Village apartment promotions in St. Louis County received a clean bill of health from the St. Louis County grand jury in a report to Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe at Clayton today.

The jury said its inquiry had failed to show any violation of the spirit or letter of the law except that the State law regarding fire escapes had not been complied with at Manhassett Village, and this has since been remedied as a result of proceedings by the Prosecuting Attorney.

With Knowledge of F.H.A. As to write-ups of land values by promoters in obtaining Government-insured loans totaling $4,300,000, the jury found the write-ups had been with the knowledge of the Federal Housing Administration; in fact, that the write-ups had been even larger than the promoters had applied for or expected.

"Such practice was entirely in accordance with the custom and the then law (which, however, has since been changed), being based on the ground value of the completed project, including sewers, walks, landscaping and installation of utilities," the report said.

"Such write-up, or any write-up that might have been determined on, was in effect merely an increase in the capitalization of the promoters' own company and could not be construed as harmful or detrimental to the public welfare."

Law Has Been Changed. The change in the law mentioned by the jury referred to an amendment to the F.H.A. law voted recently by Congress, intended to prohibit future write-ups after the Post-Dispatch disclosed last winter that the Manhassett site, in West Richmonds Heights, was bought by the apartment promoters for $39,350 and valued at $171,000 in obtaining a $1,600,000 loan, and that the three casualties included two crew members and one passenger. He gave no details of the mishap in first messages.

Executives of the oil company said the survivors would be taken to Honolulu unless a transfer to another Japanese ship can be made at sea. Master of the Bokuyo Maru was Capt. S. Amano.

The Marine Exchange reported details were contained in a private radio message to the Associated Oil Co. from its tanker Associated, which picked up survivors.

Introduces Senate Resolution to Give Tokyo Six-Month Notice of Abrogation.
WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), introduced a resolution today to give Japan a six-month notice of abrogation of the 1911 treaty of amity and commerce between that country and this.

The resolution also would call for reconvening of the Brussels conference of 1907, now in recess, to determine whether Japan has been or is violating, a nine-power treaty pledging respect of the territorial integrity of China.

At Vandenberg's request the resolution was sent to the Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee already is considering a resolution by Chairman Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, to give the President power to restrict the export of war materials to Japan because of its alleged violation of the nine-power pact by discriminating against American citizens in China.

LAVISH RELIEF
FOUND IN SURVEY

Records in Canteen Township, St. Clair County, Reveal Divorcee Entitled to $46 Has $87 Income.

$30 IN ALIMONY, $22 FROM SON IN C C C

In Another Instance Family Has Two Grown Sons Employed Bringing in $240 a Month.

Typical examples of the bountiful manner in which relief was dispensed in Canteen Township, St. Clair County, where, in an investigation by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, it was found that 38.5 per cent of the families and individuals receiving direct relief were not eligible under the commission's standards, were disclosed today in an examination of the records by a Post-Dispatch reporter.

The records were made public by J. J. Derkatis, field representative of the commission, which conducted the examination. It was found that among the 233 active cases on the relief rolls during May, 85 were ineligible because some member of the family had a job in private industry, or on WPA, or had income sufficient to meet their needs.

Case of Widow's Family. In one instance a divorcee with four children was receiving $27 a month in food orders from township relief, and at the same time getting $30 a month in alimony, $22 from a son in a C C C camp and $8 from part-time housework, a total of $87. Her needs, under the budget fixed by the commission, were placed at $46 per month.

She owned her own home and furniture, left to her by her husband. She had been receiving relief since February last year, alimony since June, 1935, and the C C C allowance and housework since last April. In addition, she was getting a relief order for one-half ton of coal a month.

Sons Earning $240 a Month. The commission requires that employed adult sons and daughters who are unmarried and live at home contribute between 40 and 60 per cent of their earnings to the support of their parents, but the township administration gave $20 a month to one family in which two grown sons had been regularly employed since 1936, one earning $100 per month, the other $140. The parents had been on relief since April, 1938, receiving coal and medical aid in addition to their food orders.

Many similar cases were found by the investigators. Another was that of a family of six, which included two adult sons, each earning $28 a week on steady jobs at the stockyards. The family was placed on the relief rolls in March and given food orders equivalent to $34 a month. Under commission requirements, the sons should have contributed $55 a month to support of the family.

MOSCOW REFUSES EVEN TO CONSIDER TOKYO DEMANDS

Asserts Note on Sakhalin
'Contains Threats, Is in Nature of Ultimatum and Impossible to Accept'

ISLAND OIL, COAL RIGHTS INVOLVED

Japanese Proposal Contests
'Known Decisions of Soviet Courts,' Announcement Says.

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP).—The Soviet Russian official news agency said last night a Japanese demand in "ultimatum form" regarding the rights of Japanese oil and coal concessions on Sakhalin Island had been rejected without consideration.

A communique by the news agency, Tass, said S. A. Lozovsky, Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs, returned a note handed him on Sunday by the Japanese Ambassador, Shigenori Togo, "pointing out that since the document sent by the Ambassador contains threats and is in the nature of an ultimatum, the People's Commissariat of Foreign Affairs deems it impossible to accept it and returns it without consideration."

The announcement said the Japanese Ambassador's note "raised questions connected with the unlawful activities of Japanese agents in the Japanese-occupied Sakhalin Island, and also contested known decisions of Soviet courts concerning unlawful actions of Japanese concession owners on Sakhalin Island."

"In conclusion," said the statement, "the Japanese Ambassador demanded in this document in ultimatum form that an answer to the questions raised be given not later than July 18 (Tuesday)."

Sakhalin, long narrow island north of Japan and off the Siberian coast, is part Japanese and part Russian. Fishing rights and oil and coal concessions exploited by the Japanese in the Russian half of the island long have been the cause of disputes between Moscow and Tokyo.

On July 4 it was reported from Tokyo that Ambassador Togo had made a new proposal against "obstructionist tactics" of the Russians at Sakhalin, but the nature of the complaint was not made known.

Six hundred miles long and from 18 to 100 miles wide, Sakhalin Island was occupied by the Japanese during the Russo-Japanese war in 1904. Japan received half the island at the end of the war, but in 1920 after the Bolshevik revolution occupied Russia's half. Eventually Japan withdrew receiving valuable oil and coal concessions.

Al Rains Subject of Emergency Tokyo Cabinet Conference.

TOKYO, July 18 (AP).—A full report of recent Soviet air raids on rail centers in Japanese-protected Manchukuo was laid before an emergency meeting of five key Cabinet members today.

The Government apparently was taking an extremely grave view of the situation which grew out of sporadic warfare for the last two months along the common border of Manchukuo and Soviet-protected Outer Mongolia.

It was learned authoritatively that the War Minister, Lieutenant General Sashiro Itagaki, requested the emergency session when he saw Premier Kichiro Hiranuma today before the regular Cabinet conference. The request was granted and Itagaki made a full report to the Premier and the Ministers of Finance, Navy and Foreign Affairs.

11 Russian Ships Leave Panama for Vladivostok.

PANAMA, Panama, July 18 (AP).—Eleven Soviet Russian ships, including four mine layers, left Balboa, Canal Zone, for Vladivostok, the Soviet Far Eastern naval base, yesterday.

The fleet assembled here between June 24 and July 13 from Leningrad.

The mine layers expected to go by way of San Francisco and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, while the seven other ships, including three tugs, a dredge and three freighters, expected to sail by way of Honolulu.

ROOSEVELT PRAISES JESSE JONES AND RFC

Commends 'Amazing Financial Efficiency' When Chairman Takes New Job.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—President Roosevelt spoke today of "an amazing record of financial efficiency" of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in a letter accepting the resignation of Jesse H. Jones as chairman of the agency.

Jones resigned to become Federal Loan Administrator. The White House made public Jones' letter, dated July 15, and the President's reply.

Quoting from Jones' letter, the President asserted:

"Your statement that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has sound assets sufficient to pay all of its debts and return to the Treasury the entire capital stock invested in it, with something in addition, reminds me that in 1933, 1934, 1935 and 1936 a few people in the executive branch of the Government, more people in the Congress of the United States, and many individuals and newspapers in civil life were announcing to the nation that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was broke and that the Government would not get back more than 50 cents on the dollar."

These people were in some cases honest in their belief, but in many cases were making these shoult statements with the hope that their own type of partisanship would thereby be served.

"In either case their action did little to encourage the 'confidence' of the people in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and in either case they were guilty of making untrue statements."

Jones said in his letter of resignation that both his successor as RFC chairman, Emil Schram, and the RFC organization were "in every way worthy of confidence and support."

Jones asserted that it was assumed, when he came to the RFC in 1932, that conditions which caused its creation soon would pass. "The breakdown in our financial and economic affairs," he said, "has been repaired, but the readjustment is taking much longer than any of us expected."

He said he wished to emphasize that the RFC organization was "as capable as that of any privately owned business."

unnecessary," was the official spokesman's rejoinder.

Adolf Hitler said on April 28 that Danzig was a German city and gave notice of his demand on Poland that Danzig return to the Reich as a free city.

The spokesman's attention next was called to rumors that Hitler might be declared the chief of state of Danzig.

"We don't propose to fall back into the practices of royalty, when the King's or Emperor's name came also his other titles, such as Grand Duke this or Margrave that," the official commented.

"Besides, for our Fuehrer to assume also the title of chief of the Danzig state would mean recognition of a status—two distinct political entities—to which we object."

"From our viewpoint Danzig should be a part of the Reich," the spokesman denied that negotiations of any kind were going on with Poland.

London Reflects Calmer View.

Wheat at Record Low.

LONDON, July 18 (AP).—A calmer view of the international situation was reflected in British circles today.

Wheat, a prime war commodity, fell to three shillings, seven and three-eighths pence—the lowest recorded price since 1922—about 50 cents a bushel.

Market experts said big buyers apparently were holding off for still lower prices as new wheat poured into already overstocked granaries.

NEW INSTRUCTIONS ON TOKYO PARLEY SENT BY BRITAIN

London Thought to Have Repeated to Envoy View
That Talks Be Limited to Tientsin.

LONDON, July 18 (AP).—The British Government today sent further instructions to Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, Ambassador to Tokyo, in connection with the British-Japanese negotiations to settle the Tientsin dispute.

The new instructions were thought to have repeated the British view that the Tokyo conversations should be limited to the incidents at Tientsin, where the Japanese have blockaded the foreign concessions since June 18, rather than to the broad questions of Japanese and British policy in China.

Resumption of Craigie's talks with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita will be deferred until tomorrow.

Japanese Notify Powers 'Three More Ports Will Be Closed.'

SHANGHAI, July 18 (AP).—Japanese naval authorities announced today that three more South China ports, Santauo, Loyuan, and Shuang, would be closed and made their customary request that third-power ships and nationals leave.

The announcement, similar to ones which the United States and Great Britain rejected in closing of other Chinese ports, said the new blockades would be imposed Friday.

Meanwhile, North China friction between British and Japanese was reported. Domesi, Japanese news agency, said 3000 Chinese had wrecked the offices of the British trading firm of Jardine, Matheson & Co. at Tientsin.

After destroying desks and other furniture the Chinese were said to have marched to other British firms only to be turned back by Japanese military police, who prevented further damage.

Domesi reported all British citizens at Kaifeng, North China, had left there because of the anti-British campaign. British sources said Chinese at Kaifeng had been ordered to leave the Canadian-Anglo-American Mission and Chinese in a land mission compounds and have nothing further to do with the English.

Withdrawal of stabilization fund support for the Chinese dollar caused a sharp slump today in its value in foreign exchange.

From yesterday's quotation of 12 1/2-16 cents of the United States dollar the Chinese currency dropped to 9% and was worth 10% cents in today's closing quotations.

Several hundred of the 3600 unemployed tiff miners had been milling around the courthouse today, but began to disperse after the meeting ended this afternoon. Last night about 50 miners slept on the lawn of the public square.

The demonstration was occasioned by the announcement last week that the National Lead Co. was suspending operations for two weeks.

Emergency relief orders for $2 were distributed to the needy yesterday by Clarence Keathley, county relief director. Assistance for the orders was obtained Saturday when Sheriff John White and Prosecuting Attorney John Eversole went to Jefferson City in the miners' behalf.

Keathley said surplus commodities, brought in trucks from Jefferson City over the week-end, were being given out in all parts in the county today. "That's all I can do until I have talked to Mr. Haworth and Mr. Carter," he said. "There is no more money available."

The reason for the National Pigments' shutdown, according to Bruce Miles, field representative, was that the company is installing new scales. He said, however, that the market was "bad" and would give no assurance that operations would be continued after Aug. 1. The company employs about 600 miners, he said.

Four hundred miners were thrown out of work a month ago when Ralph Blount, virtually the only other buyer in Washington County, ceased operations. Another 500 were made idle when the National Pigment Co. subsequently discontinued its practice of buying from properties other than those under its control.

Life for Killing Son, Granddaughter.

TAMPA, Fla., July 18 (AP).—Oliver Bishop, 75 years old, pleaded guilty yesterday of killing his son and granddaughter. He was sentenced to life imprisonment. Several weeks before the killings, the elder Bishop had his son and granddaughter arrested on a morals charge but they were acquitted.

Jephans' Home Alumni to Give Play.

"Lena Rivers," a three-act play, will be presented by the Alumni Association of the German Protestant Orphan's Home Thursday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock on the outdoor stage of the home, 8240 St. Charles road, St. Louis County. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the home.

Japanese sources said the committee decided all its followers' deposits should be withdrawn from British banks and that construction of houses should be encouraged in Japanese-controlled areas to accommodate Chinese moving from the blockaded Chinese concession.

Boycott of British Goods at Tientsin Reported Decided On.

TIENSIN, July 18 (AP).—The so-called "Supreme Anti-British Committee" was reported today to have decided on a boycott of British goods to "punish" Chinese and Japanese merchants doing business with the British.

Japanese sources said the committee decided all its followers' deposits should be withdrawn from British banks and that construction of houses should be encouraged in Japanese-controlled areas to accommodate Chinese moving from the blockaded Chinese concession.

SOVIET ATHLETES PARADE FOR STALIN IN ANNUAL REVIEW

Groups From All Over Russia
Sing and Perform Acrobatics in Red Square.

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP).—Across Red Square today, past the tomb of Lenin on which stood Joseph Stalin and other leaders, poured a pageant of Soviet youth—the annual physical culture parade.

Following contingents bearing the massed banners of 36 sports clubs came representatives of the 11 constituent republics of the U. S. S. R., each group consisting of from 200 to 300 young men and women picked for their appearance and athletic ability.

Each section put on a show of its own and through all the displays ran the theme of national defense. Athletes from the Ukraine, for instance, depicted "the heroic struggle of the Ukrainian people against landlords, capitalists and interventionists."

The Azerbaidjan group transformed Red Square into a make-believe cotton field with children running between the rows, rejoicing in the bumper crop. A backdrop of Oriental rugs fell, revealing the oil wells of Baku. Banners proclaimed: "We will defend our oil, our cotton and our happy life."

From Turkmenistan came bronzed athletes who filled the square with acrobatic pyramids. Their placards said they were "ready for labor and defense."

Georgia, Stalin's native country, presented a martial dance, climaxed by a stirring song about Stalin.

Almost every section had a group of dancers. Some made the square a stage for spectacular ballet. The national groups entered and departed singing songs in praise of Stalin.

PALESTINE JEWS BEGIN STRIKE AGAINST BAR ON IMMIGRATION

Demonstration Is for Purpose of Influencing Debate in Parliament.

JERUSALEM, July 18 (AP).—Jews throughout Palestine, in protest against Britain's six-month bar on Jewish immigration into the Holy Land, began a 10-hour strike today. At 2 p. m., all shops and businesses closed their doors.

The National Council of Palestine Jews called the strike, it said, in an effort to influence debate on Palestine issues in the British Parliament.

Only a few Jews holding special passes from their local committees appeared on Jerusalem streets. Mobile police took special precautions in the city. Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald announced on July 12 that no Jewish immigration into Palestine would be issued for six months because of large scale illegal immigration.

LOUISIANA U. PAID $75,000 FOR WHAT IT ALREADY OWNED

Basis of Mail Fraud Indictment Against Seymour Weiss, Huey Long Aid, and Four Others.

NEW ORLEANS, July 18 (AP).—With indictment of five political and business figures on a charge they carried out a scheme to sell Louisiana State University $75,000 worth of furnishings in a hotel already owned by the university, the Federal Government indicated today its renewed interest in the complicated political structure left by the late Huey P. Long.

Seymour Weiss, New York and New Orleans hotel man who was sponsored by Long, was named with four others in the indictments returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury.

Weiss, former treasurer of Long's political organization, was one of several persons charged with income tax evasion more than four years ago. Criminal prosecution of the charge was dropped, as were the charges against other top lieutenants of Long, after the Senator's death. Weiss paid a $38,746.10 civil claim.

Dr. Smith and Others Named.

Indicted jointly with Weiss yesterday were Dr. James Monroe Smith, whose resignation as president of Louisiana State University several weeks ago "broke" the political scandal that launched numerous State and Federal inquiries; Louis Lesage, assistant to the president of the Standard Oil Co. of Louisiana; Monte M. Hart, president of Hart Enterprises Electric Co., and member of Caldwell Brothers & Hart, building contractors, and J. Emory Adams, Baton Rouge chain store officer and nephew of the former L. S. U. president's wife.

Smith, held in the Baton Rouge jail in default of $75,000 bond on multiple indictments charging juggling and embezzling L. S. U. funds, was temporarily surrendered to Federal marshals last night and brought to Federal jail here for arraignment on the Federal charge.

Bond of $10,000 each set for the five indicted yesterday was posted by Weiss, Hart and Lesage. Immediately after their release they were questioned by Frank W. Lohn, acting agent in charge of the Internal Revenue office at Dallas, Tex.

Earl Long Sees Maestri.

Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the late Senator, hastened to New Orleans and conferred with Mayor Robert S. Maestri. Asked if Weiss would be discharged as president of the New Orleans Dock Board, he said he did not care to comment.

The Federal indictment recited that L. S. U. in 1936 purchased the Bienville Hotel in New Orleans from the Lee Circle Hotel Co., Inc., headed by Weiss and Hart, for $75,000, for use as a home for nurses during construction of the new Charity Hospital here.

Then, the indictment said, the defendants sold to the university the furnishings of the hotel for $75,000 despite the fact that the furnishings were included in the original sale. Of this money, it was charged, Smith got $14,000, Adams $11,000, Weiss $16,500, Hart $19,066.91 and Lesage $8500.

The mails were used in this scheme, it was alleged, to send checks between New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

L. S. U. President Says School Actually Has Lost No Money.

BATON ROUGE, La., July 18 (AP).—Acting President Paul M. Hebert of Louisiana State University told a "family" meeting of the faculty and staff last night the school's academic standing had not been affected by the recent financial scandal.

"Activities will go on," he said. "L. S. U. is an institution. It cannot be torn down by any individual or by any group. We have all the essential foundations for a strong institution."

"The physical plant is adequate for our purpose. We will take whatever steps are necessary to build up our faculty. Actually, L. S. U. has not lost any money because of recent events. The budget will be carried out as appropriated with only minor adjustments."

BANK ROBBERS GET $12,000 IN JERSEY NOONDAY HOLDUP

Two Employees at Work While Others Are at Lunch and 6 Customers Locked in Vault.

RARITAN, N. J., July 18 (AP).—Four armed robbers held up two employees and six customers in the Raritan State Bank and escaped with an estimated $12,000 to $14,000 at 12:15 p. m. today.

They locked the eight persons in a vault and fled in an automobile believed to have been stolen. A timing device that takes 15 minutes to open saved a much larger amount of cash in a vault.

The four robbers walked into the bank as Albert Klein, assistant cashier, and Mrs. Alice S. Barto, a teller, were at work while the other employees were at luncheon. Each holdup man covered a cage with a gun. Mrs. Barto, who was typing, was told to cover her eyes with her hands and Klein was ordered to lie on the floor.

CUT IN BUDGET DRAWS STATE AUDITOR'S FIRE

He Says He Will Have to Fire 60, Tax Collections May Suffer.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 18 (AP).—State Auditor Forrest Smith asserted today cuts by Gov. Stark in his department's appropriations might jeopardize the State's direct relief and old-age pension programs for this year and next.

Smith said the action of the Governor in withholding more than $400,000 of his Legislature-approved $1,866,200 appropriation—would necessitate the immediate dismissal of between 60 and 70 employees.

IN BUDGET DRAWS STATE AUDITOR'S FIRE

Says He Will Have to Fire
60, Tax Collections
May Suffer.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 18 (AP).—State Auditor Forrest Smith, who today cuts by Gov. Stark in department's appropriations, said he would not jeopardize the State's direct and old-age pension funds for this year and the Governor in withholding more than $10,000 of his Legislature-approved $106,200 appropriation—would not jeopardize the immediate dismissal of between 50 and 70 employees.

This personnel loss, he said, would result in collection of the sales tax and income tax, the heaviest revenue producers of the State.

"The unjustified reduction in my appropriation will necessitate the reduction in the number of employees in my sales tax, income tax and general office forces, and a reduction in the salary of those retained," Smith said. "It will completely close down the auditing of the sales tax and income tax."

Smith said he hoped that no special session would be called to reduce taxes because "had I been permitted to have the amount the Legislature gave me I could have reduced the collections from sales and income taxes several million dollars more than was collected last year."

"Proof of that statement," he said, "we have collected more than $10,000 more sales tax the first six months of 1939 than we collected the corresponding first six months of 1938."

DICKMANN TO SET UP HOUSING BOARD IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Administrator Straus Suggests Financial Expert, Union Representative,
Negro and Woman.

AT LEAST 30 MILLION
IS PROMISED TO CITY
Main Point to Be Settled
Is Whether Projects Can Be Exempted From Taxes —Test Suit Planned.

Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann said today a Post-Dispatch reporter today he would appoint a local housing authority within a few days to begin the work of clearing and low-cost housing which was assured for St. Louis yesterday when Nathan Straus, Administrator of the United States Housing Authority, promised the city at least $30,000,000 in a Federal loan.

The housing authority will consist of five persons. The Mayor declined to discuss possible appointees, but Straus offered him the following informal advice yesterday: Appoint someone who knows finance, a representative of organized labor, a Negro (since Negroes) and a woman, "since it's better to have them kicking on the inside than on the outside."

Besides appointment of the authorities, the other principal point which must be cleared up is the question of whether the city will be able to make the completed projects tax-exempt. Making them tax-exempt is not mandatory, Straus pointed out, but it has been the usual way cities with housing projects have contributed toward keeping down rents.

Test Case Planned.

When the enabling act which empowers the city to have a housing authority was before the Legislature, real estate interests forced elimination of the clause permitting tax exemption. The city was left to try to get around the point on the theory that the housing authority is a municipal corporation and that buildings erected under its jurisdiction are therefore automatically tax free.

City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman said a test suit on this basis would be brought in the name of a taxpayer as soon as the housing authority has been appointed.

The question of tax-exemption arises because the Federal law requires the city to make some contribution to keep down the rents. The projects are built entirely with loans—20 per cent from the USHA and 10 per cent obtained locally.

But, Straus explained, the rents could not be low enough unless there were some subsidy. This is made in the form of an annual grant from the USHA, supplemented by the city in the form of tax-exemption. Straus said it could be made in cash.

Sites Not Disclosed Yet.

No definite sites for the slum clearance projects have as yet been named, but the first are expected to go up on the near North Side and the near South Side. The four which Straus and Mayor Dickmann took yesterday covered the territory between Seventh street and Twelfth boulevard as far north as Madison and Monroe streets and as far south as Rutgers street.

Dickmann said today that although it had originally been planned to start with four medium-sized projects, it was now possible that the first undertaking would be a downtown development covering 25 acres or more.

The switch in plans, the Mayor said, was made at the suggestion of Straus, who several times yesterday referred to the special benefits of a large project. "If it is just a small development," Straus said, "it may not have much effect in transforming the neighborhood."

A large rebuilding project, however, "will give new life to the community. All around its periphery territory is a boom in the construction of new stores, motion picture theaters and privately-built homes."

Straus' visit yesterday had the practical details of explaining the program to skeptical real estate and Chamber of Commerce men and of outlining the community benefits of the program to a large group representing a cross-section of the city.

He was one up on the real estate men, because he personally owned property than any of those who questioned him and he freely referred to that fact. The son of a New York merchant, he has rich holdings in Manhattan. He bluntly said that the only real objection to the USHA program are "the owners of slum property who are making 30 to 40 per cent off their investment."

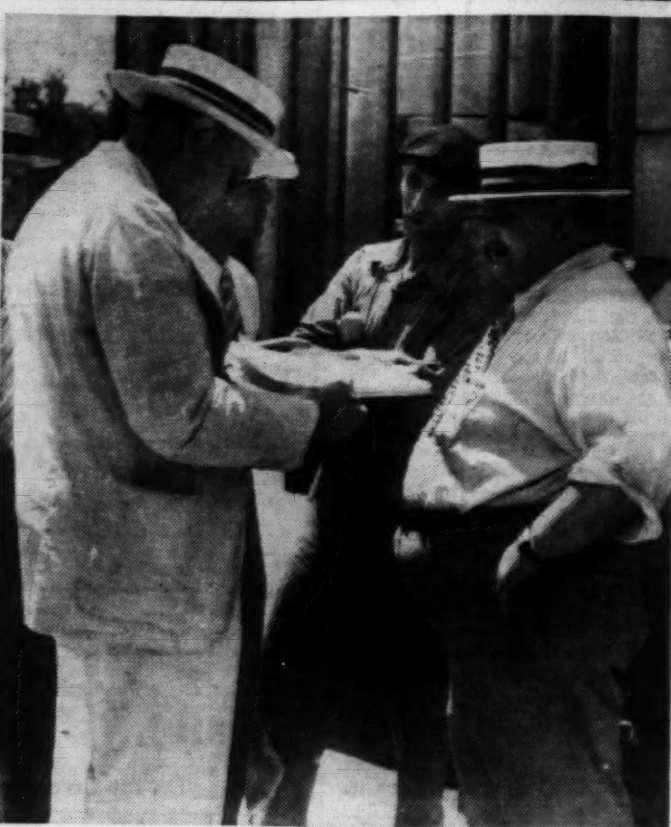

Expect No Union Trouble.

Briskly he told labor's representatives that he expected no trouble from them "because it was the labor leaders who wished this job on me, and I expect their co-operation."

Straus worked closely with Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, whose sympathies with labor are well-known. In drafting the enabling act, as a State Senator in New York he was the author of much labor legislation.

As far as labor's part in the program is concerned, there are three

FRANK C. RAND WINS INCOME TAX APPEAL

Only $125,534 of $684,416
From Trust Subject to Levy as His Part of Return.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Only $125,534 of $684,416 income in 1934-35 from a trust set up for the children of Frank C. Rand of St. Louis, Board of Tax Appeals ruled today, is taxable as part of Rand's income.

Rand is chairman of the board of International Shoe Co. In a hearing at St. Louis last October, he told the board he had used the $125,534 for the purchase of $1,000,000 insurance on his life for benefit of his six children.

The internal revenue law provides that trust income so used may be included in computing the income of the grantor, and the Internal Revenue Commissioner had included the total trust income, on the ground that all could have been used for insurance. The Government's claim was for $166,314 tax for 1934 and $119,553 for 1935.

The appeals board ruled against Rand's attempt to deduct $11,998 from 1934 income for loss on 12 shares in Reorganization Investment Co., sold, Rand had testified, to establish a loss for tax purposes.

MAN ROBBED OF MONEY
HE DREW OUT FOR VACATION

Drinking Acquaintance Takes $345
From Dumas Scholes in East St. Louis.

Dumas Scholes, East St. Louis switchman, was robbed early today of $345 that he had drawn from a bank to spend on his vacation, after he had struck up a drinking acquaintance with a stranger on an East St. Louis street corner.

Scholes told deputies that he and his acquaintance made a round of taverns last night and then the stranger invited him to a roadhouse at Montanto.

When Scholes left his automobile, he was slugged, knocked unconscious and robbed. He received medical treatment for bruises and was taken to his home, 445A Collinsville avenue.

main points: Prevailing wages are paid, there can be no increase in wages once the job is started, there could be no stoppage of work because of jurisdictional disputes.

Straus was asked by a Chamber of Commerce representative if the building of the projects would not be in forming a corrupt political machine." Straus replied that he thought it hindered such a possibility by providing higher-type surroundings for many people.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "it helps get rid of one aspect of corrupt politics by doing away with the slum-owning landlord who is always coming around asking for favors, trying to get out of repairing roof or putting in a fire escape."

Predicts Building Boom.

When he waxed really enthusiastic about the housing program Straus says it will "promote the biggest building boom the country has ever known." He is fond of dividing the country's population into thirds. For only the top third, those with an annual income of more than $1800, does private industry do any building, he says. The USHA is building for the lowest third, those with an income below $1800.

"It is the one-third in between," Straus says, "which presents the challenge to the American building industry. No one at present is doing anything for the man with an income between $1800 and $1800. The USHA will never invade any other field than the lowest third, but it hopes, by providing adequate homes for this group, to stimulate private industry into doing something for the country and for itself by building for the middle third."

45 MORE ARRESTED IN TRUCK FEE DRIVE

109 Drivers Without Permits
Stopped in Less Than Two Days.

The city's campaign to enforce the Missouri truck permit law was continued today with the arrest of 45 drivers of common carrier trucks as they entered St. Louis over Municipal Bridge.

When the city began enforcement of the law yesterday, 44 drivers were arrested, making 99 arrests so far. In addition to those picked up yesterday at Municipal Bridge, 10 drivers were arrested last night as they came off Chain of Rocks Bridge.

Associate City Counselor Harold Hanke announced that trucks engaged in general hauling exclusively in the city were "next on the list" in the city's campaign and that arrests would begin shortly. He said he was informed there were about 1500 trucks in the city operating as contract and common carriers, but did not know how many of these engaged only in contract hauling. Only common carriers are subject to the permit provisions of the law.

Drivers were hooked at police stations for operating without Missouri Public Service Commission permits and released on $500 bonds. Penalty on conviction ranges up to $1000 fine and a year in jail.

Most of the trucks stopped were from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin, having St. Louis as their terminus. Trucks coming from other points in Missouri already have permits, as the truck law has been enforced outstate for some time by the State Highway Patrol.

Enforcement of the requirement that common carrier trucks have permits was started yesterday after a conference at City Hall between city officials, police, and representatives of the Missouri Public Service Commission and State Highway Commission.

Permit fees range from $25 to $500 a year, depending on weight capacities of trucks, with those operating on regular routes less than 10 miles within the State paying one-third the regular rate and less than 20 miles, one-half the regular rate. The share of fees which the city will receive by enforcement here, based on the ratio of mileage in the city to total mileage in the State, has been estimated at $150,000 annually.

A meeting to discuss details of compliance with the law will be held by the Greater St. Louis Chamber of Commerce at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at Swiss Hall, Arsenal street and Iowa avenue. Officers said the meeting would be open only to members and truckers not affiliated with other organizations and that admittance would be by reservation only, due to the limited capacity of the hall. The association offices are at 1329 Linden street.

BODY OF MAN FOUND, HEAD
PROPPED UP TO AUTO EXHAUST

The body of a man, about 50 years old, was found today beneath a parked automobile in a wooded section north of West Poirassant avenue, near Jennings, St. Louis County. The head was propped up near the exhaust pipe and the motor of the machine was running.

A driver's license and a social security card found in the man's clothing had been issued to Paul Shaw, 5014 Vernon avenue. Business cards indicated the man was a salesman for Sunfreze Dairies, Inc., 4424 West Papin street. The body was taken to the Tanner Funeral Home, 6107 Natural Bridge road, Pine Lawn.

"Some Things Not to Be Approved."

"In my opinion," Lucas said at the time, "the report brings to the attention of my department several matters which will require my future attention." He further said "the report conclusively discloses that not all of the conduct of the parties connected with the contract between the Missouri State Life and the General American Life can or should be approved."

The report showed "that some things have been done which have not resulted to the benefit of the policyholders and shareholders of the Missouri State Life Insurance Co."

Supt. Lucas, after an analysis of the report of the unofficial investigation at the time it was filed, said he differed with some of the findings, but declined to give specific details.

The unofficial investigators had no legal authority to place persons they interviewed under oath.

The Governor later said that an attorney from the State Insurance Department and one from McKittick's office had been assigned to make a "complete study" of the affairs of the General American Life. No report on this inquiry has been made public.

FIVE STATES BEGIN EXAMINATION OF GEN. AMERICAN

Insurance Inquiry Conducted for All Territory
Served by Company,
Under Fire From Stark.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 18.—A convention examination of the General American Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis, whose management was placed under inquiry by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark about 18 months ago, with no official action announced so far, was started yesterday by examiners representing Missouri and four other states.

Other states participating in examination are California, Indiana, South Carolina and Kansas. The five states are conducting the examination for the more than 25 states in which the company operates, under the usual practice in periodical convention examinations of large insurance companies.

The examination likely will require four or five months.

Gov. Stark, who asked for the resignation of three principal officers of the General American Life Insurance Co. in January, 1938, then held the request in abeyance pending an unofficial investigation which was completed last May, is in San Francisco attending the Golden Gate Exposition. State Insurance Superintendent Ray B. Lucas, no comment was made of the unofficial inquiry for the Governor and differed from some of its findings, is in Texas on department business.

Regular Convention Examination.

In the absence of the Governor and Lucas, no comment was made of the unofficial inquiry for the Governor and differed from some of its findings, is in Texas on department business.

The complaint against Sowers and Quillen was Henry J. Weber of Robertson, who, Wallace said, was a passenger in an automobile driven by John Henderson of Robertson, which figured in a minor collision with another machine on Airport road in Berkeley, July 1.

The Berkeley officers were said to have arrived at the scene, arrested Henderson and the driver of the other car, a Negro, and taken them to Sowers' home to make bond, Weber going along. At Sowers' home, Weber told police, the Negro mistakenly asserted that Henderson was not the driver, but that he was the driver of the other car, a Negro, and taken them to Sowers' home to make bond, Weber going along.

U. S. SAID TO BE WORKING WITH FRANCE IN SPY INQUIRY

Britain Also Reported Collaborating in Investigation of Nazi Espionage and Propaganda.

PARIS, July 18 (AP).—Sources close to the French Surete Nationale said today that "a certain amount" of collaboration with British and American police was being maintained in the investigation of an alleged German espionage and propaganda ring in France.

Gov. Stark agreed to hold his demand in abeyance pending an independent investigation of the company's affairs and reports received by the Governor and McKittick, to be made by accountants and attorneys appointed for that purpose by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

St. Louis Inquiry Favorable.

The inquiry, made by the St. Louis law firm of Polk & Williams and the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst, continued for about 15 months. The report prepared by Polk & Williams was filed last May with the Governor, Attorney-General McKittick and Supt. Lucas. The findings in the report were favorable to the management of the General American and its acquisition of the assets of the old Missouri State Life Insurance Co. in 1933, aside from mild censure on some minor items in the inquiry.

Gov. Stark declined to discuss the report at the time it was filed, or to discuss the affairs of the company later. At the time the report was submitted, the Governor initially stated he had withdrawn his request for the resignations and said it merely had been held in abeyance. The Governor also said at the time that he regretted that the numerous persons questioned by the accountants and attorneys had not been placed under oath.

The unofficial investigators had no legal authority to place persons they interviewed under oath.

The Governor later said that an attorney from the State Insurance Department and one from McKittick's office had been assigned to make a "complete study" of the affairs of the General American Life. No report on this inquiry has been made public.

Supt. Lucas, after an analysis of the report of the unofficial investigation at the time it was filed, said he differed with some of the findings, but declined to give specific details.

CONSTABLE'S AID INDICTED ON FEE CHARGE IN COUNTY

Chief Deputy Krueger Accused of Taking $32 Illegally From Man Arrested With Woman.

An indictment against Chief Deputy Constable Henry Krueger of Normandy Township, charging exacting of illegal fees, in collection of $32 from a man arrested with a young woman on a morals charge, was returned by the St. Louis County grand jury in Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe's court at Clayton.

Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallace told a Post-Dispatch reporter the charge against Krueger was based on the complaint of Robert Temm, 288 Marion avenue, Overland, who was taken in custody with a woman companion in an automobile on Ashby road July 8.

Temm reported Krueger here, quired him to pay "costs" of $32, Wallace said no charges against Temm and his companion were filed by the Constable's office.

The complainant against Sowers and Quillen was Henry J. Weber of Robertson, who, Wallace said, was a passenger in an automobile driven by John Henderson of Robertson, which figured in a minor collision with another machine on Airport road in Berkeley, July 1.

"Another Chance" Voted Belleville Police Chief

Council Reappoints Thomas H. Lonie on Understanding He Is to 'Clean Up Gambling.'

"Another chance" for Police Chief Thomas H. Lonie of Belleville was voted by the City Council in a comparatively tranquil session last night after slot machines had disappeared from sight yesterday in Belleville.

The session followed a turbulent Sunday afternoon caucus at which Lonie, serving on a temporary basis, was called on the carpet and told that aldermen would break up the machines if he was afraid to. Two members of the council told of refusing bribes, "100 to $200 a month," offered if they "were smart and fixed things up."

However, one of those aldermen, Nicholas C. Mueller, seconded Lonie's reappointment yesterday "with the understanding that we are giving him another chance."

"If he can't clean up gambling here, we'll get someone who can," warned Alderman Maurice E. Vale, eliciting agreement from other members of the council. "If he makes one slip, he's out."

Four policemen and three firemen were dismissed to bring expenditures within the budget of $382,686 for the year ending next April 30, as compared with $614,750 for the last fiscal year.

"With so many complaints about gambling," commented Alderman Irvin Stein, "it seems we haven't enough policemen now."

SHOE COMPANY LOSES COMPENSATION APPEAL

26 Hamilton-Brown Employees Kept From Jobs by Pickets, to Get $1800.

An appeal of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. from an order that unemployment compensation be paid to 26 CIO union employees of its Poplar Bluff plant who were kept away from their jobs by A. F. of L. union pickets last March was overruled today by Peter J. Hoegen, referee for the Missouri Unemployment Compensation commission. It is estimated the 26 workers will receive $1800 from the State unemployment compensation fund under the order.

A copy of Hoegen's decision, released at Jefferson City, was received here by George Duemler, attorney for Norman J. Crain, Poplar Bluff shoe worker, in whose name the claim for compensation was filed. Twenty-five other workers agreed to be bound by the finding in Crain's case.

Hoegen's decision termed the contention of the company that the Missouri Unemployment Compensation Commission lacked jurisdiction, "ignorance of the Social Security Act, or a dilatory tactic to delay payment of benefits."

"In view of the fact the company had counsel, the referee is inclined to believe that the appeal is an attempt to delay the payment of benefits," the decision stated. "Such an attitude is reprehensible and deserving of censure," Hoegen added.

The decision affirmed the earlier finding of a claims deputy that the 26 workers did not lose their jobs voluntarily, but were kept out of the plant by rival union pickets. At a Labor Board hearing last April on the Poplar Bluff situation there was testimony that the Hamilton-Brown Co. made membership in the A. F. of L. & Shoe Workers' Union a condition of employment. The testimony was given by members of the CIO United Shoe Workers.

Hamilton-Brown, now being liquidated in bankruptcy, has closed its Poplar Bluff and other factories.

NIGHT PARLEY AT WHITE HOUSE ON NEUTRALITY

come the country will get a clearer view of what the issue involved and by January there will be practical unanimity of opinion," he declared. "Then we can come back and consider this matter in a calm light, when the atmosphere is not so supercharged as it is now."

Borah was the only member of the group who voted with the majority of the Foreign Relations Committee to postpone action until next session.

Methods Being Considered.

Three possible methods of reviving the controversial neutrality bill were under scrutiny by the Administration's congressional leaders. Barkley said that these were:

1. The Senate might be asked to discharge the Foreign Relations Committee from further responsibility for the bill, which then would go directly to the floor for debate.
2. The legislation might be attached to some other pending bill as a "rider."
3. Some member of the Foreign Relations Committee might be won over to the administration viewpoint, thereby reversing the 12-11 vote by which the committee recently shelved neutrality legislation until the next session.

"We have not given up," Barkley asserted. "We still are hopeful that something can be done."

Senator Borah conferred yesterday with colleagues opposing the administration neutrality program. He told reporters that all committee members who had voted to shelve the legislation for this session were standing firm.

Both Borah and Barkley said that some Senators who favored the administration program would vote against any motion to force it from the Foreign Relations Committee to the floor.

A motion to discharge the committee, Barkley said, "would raise the question of whether the Senate is master of its committees or whether the committees are masters of the Senate. It is the old question of which came first—the chicken or the egg."

The other possible course of action—attaching neutrality legislation as an extraneous amendment to some other bill—has been criticized in principle by Mr. Roosevelt in the past.

With many legislators hopeful of quick adjournment, Barkley said the session probably would end by Aug. 5 if neutrality legislation were not taken up.

PRESS CAFE BEER LICENSE REVOKED FOR LATE CLOSING

Police Testify Drink Was Served After Hours; Other License Cases.

The 5 per cent beer license of Christ Johnson, proprietor of the Press Cafe, 1138 Franklin avenue, was revoked today by Ex-Sec. Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel on police testimony that beer was served in the cafe after closing hours June 30.

McDaniel imposed a one-day suspension, effective tomorrow, of the liquor license of Anthony Engelmann, tavern owner at 7301 South Broadway. Police reported beer was served there after closing hours June 28.

Citations were issued today ordering them to show cause at a hearing Aug. 1 why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked for violating the Sunday closing law. They are: Nick P. Altmore, 4034 West Florissant avenue; Srazio J. Parissi, 3133 North Grand boulevard, and Harry Voessmeyer, 1228 Wright street.

WALLACE C. WATKINS DIES IN SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA

Swift & Co. Executive Former Resident and Civic Leader of East St. Louis.

Wallace C. Watkins, general manager of the Swift & Co. properties in Australia, and a former East St. Louis resident and civic leader, died of pneumonia yesterday in Sydney, Australia, according to cablegrams received by friends in East St. Louis.

Mr. Watkins, who was 56 years old, came to East St. Louis in 1904 from Puchahontas, Ill., and entered the employ of Swift & Co. as a stenographer. He later became manager of the provision department and manager of the Independent Packing Co. He resided in East St. Louis until about 12 years ago when he was transferred to Australia.

He was formerly president of the East St. Louis School Board and chairman of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners. He was also past president of the A. F. of L. The notice sent to the company offices in East St. Louis said the body would be cremated at Sydney. His wife survives him.

Carried Money 6 Years; Robbed. MONTPELIER, Vt., July 18 (AP).—Leslie W. Jewett, 76 years old, a retired granite cutter, told police today he had been carrying $706 in his clothing since the bank holiday in 1933. Pickpockets got it yesterday.

MISS JOSIE G. NOLAN, RETIRED SCHOOL TEACHER, DIES AT 63

Pneumonia Fatal to Woman Who Taught at Arlington Grammar School 35 Years.

Miss Josie G. Nolan, retired St. Louis public school teacher, died of pneumonia yesterday at DePaul Hospital after a week's illness. Miss Nolan, 63 years old, had no near relatives.

Assigned to Arlington Grammar School after her graduation from the St. Louis Normal School in 1892, she taught there 25 years before retiring in 1917. She resided at the Fairgrounds Hotel.

Her entire estate was bequeathed to a friend, Mrs. Mary A. Daugherty, 1202 Temple place, in a will filed today in Probate Court. No appraisal was placed on the estate.

Funeral services will be Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the Sullivan undertaking establishment, 2849 North Euclid avenue, to St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

SHOT FIRED AT BUTLER IN YARD

Summer Home of T. M. Pierce Jr. Found to Have Been Entered.

Thomas M. Pierce Jr., 21 Vandeventer place, reported to the Sheriff's office at Clayton today that a shot was fired at his butler, Rudolph Nilgen, in the yard of Pierce's summer home on Vandover road, three miles south of U. S. Highway 86, last night.

Nilgen was replacing an electric light bulb in the rear of the house, after they found the place had been entered. Nothing was missing from the house.

NOTED SOVIET ACTRESS FOUND MURDERED

Zenaida Reich, Wife of Famous
Producer, Recently Arrested,
Stabbed 11 Times.

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP).—Zenaida Reich, actress wife of the former Bolshevik stage producer, Vaselod Meyerhold, was found in her apartment yesterday with 11 knife wounds in her body, her eyes put out and her throat cut. She was sent to a hospital, but died four hours later.

Her death continued a train of tragic events. Her first husband, the poet Sergei Yessenin, hanged himself. His second wife, the American dancer, Isadora Duncan, was strangled in a freak automobile accident at Nice, France, in 1917. Her long scarf became entangled in one of the wheels and pulled her out of the machine.

Zenaida Reich was reported taken into custody by Moscow secret police last Wednesday for unexplained reasons.

Her arrest followed that of her husband, who had stood high in Bolshevik circles only a few years before but whose theater was closed in 1928 when the Communist party organ, Pravda, denounced the "anti-Soviet" line of some of his later theatrical productions.

Constipation Relief That Also

Pepsin-izes Stomach

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, stuffiness, dizzy spells, a coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Pepsin proves the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause gastric acidity and nausea. This is how Pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So are how much better you feel by taking the Laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant, fairly Laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your drugstore today!

STRIKERS GO TO PRISON FOR PROPERTY DAMAGE

Brooklyn Judge, Citing Higher
Court Decision, Sentences
Two to 1 1/2 to 4 Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Judge Peter J. Brancato in Kings County Court, Brooklyn, yesterday sentenced two strikers convicted of maliciously damaging property to terms of one and one-half to four years in Sing Sing and admonished persons engaged in labor disputes that they must recognize and respect their legal responsibility to the public.

"I deem this occasion appropriate to reiterate the admonition given by the Court of Appeals in a recent decision," the court said in imposing sentence. "The decision was to the effect that striking pickets are 'under a legal responsibility to the public not only to avail themselves of their legal rights in a legal way but to endeavor to uphold all laws, to avoid the destruction of property, disorderly conduct, personal assaults, breach of the peace, violence and fraud.'"

"It is my duty to give full force and effect to the ruling of the high court. It can only serve for the best interest of the strikers and the public alike. Strikers should bear in mind that the law which makes picketing lawful also protects the property of individuals from such acts of vandalism as were committed by these two defendants."

The defendants were William Davis, 29 years old, and Herman Davis, 28, both of Brooklyn. The men, both Negroes, were not related. They were convicted June 22 of having slashed the upholstery of 10 automobiles in a garage, causing damage estimated at between $500 and $1200. At the time, Local 272 of the Garage Washers and Polishers' Union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, had called a strike at the garage.

ALL OF BODIES OF 28 MEN KILLED IN MINE REMOVED

Rescue Squads Work All Night to Complete Task in Kentucky Coal Shaft.

PROVIDENCE, Ky., July 18 (AP).—Rescue workers completed their task of removing bodies of 28 explosion victims from the Duvin coal mine early today. Through-out the night, as relief squads carried the bodies to the surface, Coroner Guy Riley directed a continuous inquest at two funeral homes where they were taken.

Nineteen of Friday night's blast victims were found Saturday. Rescue crew men delayed removal of their bodies until they found the bodies of the other nine yesterday. John Daniel, Kentucky mine inspector, said preliminary investigation indicated the explosion was caused by a "premature discharge" of a "shot-firer" which ignited coal dust.

Clarence Edwards, district secretary of the Progressive Mine Workers, an A. F. of L. affiliate, said the union would send $150 apiece to families of 27 of the victims from its burial fund. The 27 were members of the union. The other victim was ineligible to join because of his position as foreman. Families planned to bury their dead separately.

BILL FOR POSTHUMOUS AWARD FOR FRED STOCKHAM SIGNED

President Gives His Approval to Measure Recognizing St. Louis Soldier's Bravery.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The bill authorizing the War Department to consider a posthumous award to Fred W. Stockham of St. Louis has been signed by President Roosevelt. The kind of medal is left to the War Department. Stockham died of the effects of mustard gas in Belleau Wood, June 13, 1918. When a wounded soldier's gas mask was shot away, Stockham removed his and placed it on the man. Previously he was awarded the Croix de Guerre and the Second Division Citation. A St. Louis American Legion post is named for him.

MAN THREATENS TO LEAP FROM 18-STORY BUILDING

Finally Leaves Cornice Overlooking Cleveland Square at Plea of Police Sergeant.

CLEVELAND, July 18 (AP).—A crowd of 4000 persons gathered in Public Square yesterday to watch a man who had climbed on a cornice on an 18-story building and threatened to jump. He consented to leave the perch after police and firemen pleaded with him. He gave his name as Charles Galloway.

Police-Sergeant Sweeney said the man agreed to leave the roof when Sweeney promised to help find his wife and child who he said left a week ago. He is on relief.

SQUALUS LIES ON EVEN KEEL, DIVERS FIND ON NEW DESCENT

Tangle of Lines After Unsuccessful Salvage Attempt Hampers Inspection.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 18 (AP).—The disabled submarine Squalus, in which 26 men died, was found to be resting on the bottom on an almost even keel today when a diver made the first descent since the craft tore away from its lifting pontoons last Thursday.

The diver reported the submarine had only a slight list to port. A tangle of lines about the Squalus' deck prevented his making a complete inspection, pending which plans for a new salvage attempt cannot be made.

Visibility at the salvage scene, where the water is 40 fathoms deep, was reported as very poor.

MOTORBOAT BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill to alter Federal regulations governing small motorboats.

The bill sets up a new category of motorboats less than 15 feet in length, and relieves them of many of the requirements heretofore imposed on boats of less than 26 feet. Another provision makes reckless operation of motorboats a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum of $2000 fine and imprisonment for one year.

NAVY BEGINNING WORK ON 8 NEW AIR BASES

Officers Inform President About $20,000,000 Will Be Spent This Year on Program.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Admiral William D. Leahy and a group of naval officers discussed with President Roosevelt yesterday plans for construction of eight naval air bases recently authorized by Congress.

Most of the bases are in the Pacific and their cost will be $65,000,000. The President was told that about one-third of that amount would be expended this year and the rest over a two-year period. The President was represented as desirous of cutting down on expenses of the program as much as possible without in any way weakening defense or decreasing the efficiency of the bases.

The bases will be on Midway, Johnston and Palmyra Islands, in Hawaii, and at Kodiak and Sitka, Alaska, Jacksonville, Fla., and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The President was informed that the program was going ahead as rapidly as possible in an economical manner.

In addition to Leahy, those attending the conference were Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, Chief of Aeronautics; Rear Admiral Ben Moreell, Chief of Yards and Dock; Rear Admiral Ray Spears, Chief of Supplies and Accounts; Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, Surgeon-General of the Navy and personal physician to the President; and Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan, Mr. Roosevelt's naval aid.

COAST GUARD DEPOT SITE IN CITY APPROVED BY HOUSE

Senate Yet to Act on Bill to Buy Property for $100,000 St. Louis Headquarters Building.

A bill authorizing acquisition of a site for a Coast Guard depot in St. Louis was passed yesterday by the House of Representatives.

The site will cost about $20,000, it was said today by W. G. Will, superintendent of the lighthouse service, which recently was consolidated with the Coast Guard.

"In the event this bill passes the Senate," he said, "there probably will be another authorizing the construction of the depot. It would cost about $100,000."

The depot would be used chiefly to house Coast Guard and lighthouse supplies, which now are kept in several warehouses. St. Louis is headquarters for the Mississippi Valley district.

A bill which passed the Senate last month, and is now pending in the House, contains plans for the establishment in St. Louis of a Coast Guard Reserve, which has been advocated by yachtmen for years. The unit would be intended as a safeguard during river flood periods.

SEVEN FIREMEN INJURED IN KANSAS CITY BLAZE

Roofing Material Plant and Beer Warehouse Destroyed in Third Fire in 12 Hours.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 18 (AP).—A roofing material plant and $100,000 worth of beer stored in an adjoining warehouse were destroyed yesterday in the third big fire here in 12 hours.

In the other fires, $16,000 damage was done to a Kansas City (Kan.) brewery warehouse and $5000 to a hat plant. Assistant Fire Chief M. C. Mustaine said the hat factory fire showed signs of having been set. Kerosene was found in the place.

The third fire started from an undetermined cause in the three-floor Sellers & Marquis Roofing Co. plant and quickly spread to a one and one-half story warehouse which contained the beer, owned by Louis Denebels & Sons Co. The warehouse was ruined.

Passengers on trains going through the Union Station saw the blaze. The two buildings are on side tracks just back of the station.

Seven firemen were injured at the roofing materials plant blaze. Two were hurt seriously when a 15-foot wall of concrete blocks buckled and caved in.

Leonard L. Martin, vice-president, said the firm's building and its contents were a total loss. He estimated the value of contents at $10,000 to $15,000, and said the building cost $10,000 when it was erected 15 years ago.

MAN, 60, WHO WED GIRL, 16, STAYS IN BARRICADED HOUSE

New York Neighbors Who Cried "Shame" and Broke His Front Window Still Object to Marriage.

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP).—Sixty-year-old Carmelo Locapira, and his 16-year-old bride, Torsilla, waited today for a chance to slip out of their barricaded Greenwich Village apartment on a trip to Italy.

Passersby stared at the third-story window which was broken by a stone during the pair's wedding breakfast yesterday, but the cries of "Shame" which had welled from crowds abated.

While neighbors still protested against a man of his years taking such a young bride, Locapira told his police guards he wasn't planning any immediate move.

His bride, he said, will not go back to her seventh-grade at public school.

FOUR BOY WADERS DROWN

Geneseo (N. Y.) Lads, About 8 Years Old, Step Into Hole.

GENESEO, N. Y., July 18 (AP).—Four boys, two of them brothers, were drowned in the Genesee River yesterday when they stepped into a hole while wading. The victims were Samuel and Henry Kelly, William Templeton, and Samuel Pecora, all of Geneseo. Each was about 8 years old.

St. Louis U. Researchers Racing to Make Vitamin K

Eight Other Laboratories Trying to Be First to Manufacture Extract to Reduce Hemorrhages.

A race is in progress between a team of research workers at St. Louis University and groups in eight other laboratories, each seeking to be the first to manufacture Vitamin K. The scientists are reluctant to speak of the research in terms of speed but they are working as fast as they can.

The investigation is proceeding so rapidly on various fronts that there isn't time to write full-length scientific articles on the results. Instead the research men hurry off letters to the Journal of the American Chemical Society, telling how far they have gone. In the current issue there were five letters on Vitamin K.

The vitamin, first isolated at St. Louis University last year, has been used successfully in stopping hemorrhages in some persons whose blood fails to clot normally. Large numbers of chickens are required in the study and St. Louis University has bought 20,000 of them at 10 cents each since 1936.

Prof. Doisy in Charge. Money for the chickens and other expenses of the study comes from the university's theelin fund, income from the female sex hormone isolated by Prof. Edward A. Doisy. He is in charge of the present study.

With advances on so many fronts, the work here is continuing through the summer. Even Dr. Doisy's son, a sophomore at the University of Illinois, comes to lend a hand in the laboratory.

What they want to know is the chemical makeup of Vitamin K so that they can manufacture the product from simple organic chemicals. At present Vitamin K can only be obtained from huge quantities of alfalfa, putrefied fish meal and from leafy plants like spinach, chestnut leaves and soy beans.

And there is only one part of Vitamin K in 100,000 parts of alfalfa, hence the desire to learn to make it in test tubes.

Seek Potent Extract. They particularly wish to develop an extract of high potency so that only small doses would have to be given to patients, thus reducing possible harmful effects.

The vitamins K1 and K2 have been used successfully on two types of patients—those with jaundice and new-born babies who show a tendency to hemorrhage.

Jaundice patients often bleed excessively in undergoing gall bladder operations. In some hospitals now vitamin K is being given to all such patients before the operations. One surgeon at the recent American Medical Association convention here told a St. Louis University research man he used to expect to be called at home almost always after a jaundice patient underwent a gall bladder operation because hemorrhages so frequently followed. Now, he said, his patients receive vitamin K before the operations and rarely suffer hemorrhages.

K1 and K2 Isolated. If chicks are placed on a diet free of Vitamin K, their blood requires three hours or more to clot, and sometimes they bleed to death. But if the chicks get the vitamin, clotting time is reduced to two or three minutes. The method of assaying the vitamin, based on the restoration of normal clotting time, was modified at St. Louis University.

But the university's chief contribution in this research was isolation of Vitamins K1 and K2. These are different chemical substances with the same action in promoting blood coagulation. At first it was thought there was only one substance, Vitamin K, and then it was found there were actually two.

The university supplied further evidence in the June issue of the chemical journal that both vitamins are pure and that they have a naphthoquinone structure a derivative of naphtholene, commonly used in moth balls. This is the first time such a substance has been shown to be important to medicine.

Inquiry Started 10 Years Ago. In the current issue of the journal, the St. Louis scientists discussed synthetic substances which have blood-clotting qualities. But as yet no group has succeeded in producing by laboratory methods the Vitamin K found in natural sources.

The present inquiry in scattered laboratories in this country and abroad had its origin 10 years ago when Prof. Henrik Dam of Copenhagen discovered a tendency for chickens to bleed excessively when they ate foods which had been purified with ether.

In the research here, Dr. Doisy is working with Assistant Professors S. A. Thayer and D. W. MacCorquodale, Research Associates S. B. Binkley, L. C. Cheney and Walter F. Holcomb, and R. W. McKee, a graduate student.

CHICAGO ALDERMEN MOVE TO AVERT PACKING STRIKE

Committee Arranges to Confer With Armour Representatives Over Labor Dispute.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP).—The City Council's Labor Committee, seeking to avert a strike in the packing industry, has arranged a conference with officers of Armour & Co.

G. A. Eastwood, executive vice-president of Armour, notified Alderman William A. Rowan, chairman of the Council group, that representatives of the concern would meet committee members Thursday.

Officers of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing Committee were not invited to the parley, since they appeared before the Council committee recently and laid their case before the aldermen.

Members of the FWOC, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, empowered their chiefs and national bargaining committees Sunday to call strikes against any packing plant where they claim a majority of the employees if the packers declined to negotiate contracts.

Meanwhile, Alderman Rowan received a letter from Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who said the trunk pipe lines in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Texas, and gathering lines in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Texas, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Montana.

FASCIST CHIEFS BEGIN 4-DAY PHYSICAL TEST At Mussolini's Orders Drive Trucks and Jump Through Flaming Hoops.

ROME, July 18 (AP).—Fascist leaders of every section of the turned out of barracks at break today to begin physical tests ordered for them by Mussolini.

The program began with the shooting and swimming tests. One of the purposes of the demonstration, the press declared, was to show that the fascist leaders "have nothing in common" with the top-hatted officials of the past. They are proving athletic fitness as an example of Italian youth.

From Party Secretary A. Starace down to Federal secretaries from the remotest provinces they were ordered to participate in four days of athletic stunts. The idea was tried last year for the older men to keep in daily fit. It caught on and is an annual affair. Fascist also makes for spiritual leadership of youth.

The most exciting stunt last year was those of jumping the flaming hoops and over a hed bayonets. One man burned self and another was stuck with bayonet.

Starace said three party

FASCIST CHIEFS BEGIN 4-DAY PHYSICAL TEST

At Mussolini's Orders Drive Trucks and Jump Through Flaming Hoops.

ROME, July 18 (AP).—Fascist leaders of every section of the turned out of barracks at break today to begin physical tests ordered for them by Mussolini.

The program began with the shooting and swimming tests. One of the purposes of the demonstration, the press declared, was to show that the fascist leaders "have nothing in common" with the top-hatted officials of the past. They are proving athletic fitness as an example of Italian youth.

From Party Secretary A. Starace down to Federal secretaries from the remotest provinces they were ordered to participate in four days of athletic stunts. The idea was tried last year for the older men to keep in daily fit. It caught on and is an annual affair. Fascist also makes for spiritual leadership of youth.

The most exciting stunt last year was those of jumping the flaming hoops and over a hed bayonets. One man burned self and another was stuck with bayonet.

Starace said three party

America will welcome it just as it did "You Can't Take It With You", because it's happy, thrilling and heart-warming! 40 exciting weeks on Broadway—and now to great stage hit bring each of its delightful and fascinating characters to the screen one of the best pictures you've ever seen!

THIS WAKE-UP AIR-CONDITIONING OF SPRING

A glow in the East breaks the magic spell of night. The cool breath of morning, rustling lazy leaves, awakens the nightingale. Refreshed by dawn's dewy fragrance, she sings a sweet, clear song. Wake up world!... let's enjoy living again!

Few of us ever wake up to live that brief moment when day and night and nature commune. But, the magic of air-conditioning has captured it for us! Modern air-conditioning is the freshness of dawn—and we serve it free with your meals all summer long, At The Forum.

No wonder hundreds of families say—"A meal at the cool Forum is like a vacation from the heat. Housewives are amazed, too, to find that Forum family dinners are just as reasonable as home-cooked meals. So, it actually costs no more to "close down" hot kitchens and dine out, at least twice a week!

To Start the Day Right—Stop For A Real Forum Breakfast

For as little as 15¢, 20¢ to 30¢, you can select just the breakfast you like. And, as you relish every bite in cool comfort, you'll wake up that morning pep and say—"Oh, what a real break! Let's go to the Forum, 3 times a day!"

FASSIST CHIEFS BEGIN 4-DAY PHYSICAL TEST

At Mussolini's Orders They Drive Trucks and Jump Through Flaming Hoops.

ROME, July 18 (AP).—Fascist leaders of every section of Italy turned out of barracks at daybreak today to begin physical fitness tests ordered for them by President Mussolini.

The program began with target shooting and swimming tests. One of the purposes of the demonstration, the press declared, was to show that the Fascist leaders "have nothing in common with the top-hatted officials of distant countries." They are proving their athletic fitness as an example to Italian youth.

From Party Secretary Achille Starace down to Federal secretaries from the remotest provinces they were ordered to participate in four days of athletic stunts. The idea was tried last year to put the older men to keep physically fit. It caught on and now is an annual affair. Fascists say it also makes for spiritual leadership of youth.

The most exciting stunt last year were those of jumping through flaming hoops and over a hedge of bayonets. One man burned himself and another was stuck with a bayonet.

Starace said three party chieftains were out of this year's games because they hurt themselves practicing, but he did not say how. Four others were excused because of illness.

Swimming and horseback riding were among the tests required last year. To this list have been added this year pistol and rifle shooting, bicycling, motorcycling and truck driving.

The party leaders must meet daily at 6:30 a. m. and ride horses to the place of their trial. Once again during the day they meet for another hour and a quarter of horseback riding.

On Wednesday the men are to bicycle; Thursday they ride horses and Friday they do jumping and truck driving.

HEIRESS MERRY FAHRNEY SEEKING ANOTHER DIVORCE

Wife of Count Oleg Cassini "Very Angry," She Asserts; Will Have "Plenty to Say."

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP).—Merry Fahrney, Chicago patent medicine heiress, disclosed today that she has started action to divorce her fourth husband.

Saying she was "very angry" at her husband, Count Oleg Cassini, for hinting that she had a new romance in mind, the Countess said she would have "plenty to say" in court.

Earlier the Countess' mother-in-law had commented: "I don't know what it's about, but I'm afraid it's true."

Count Oleg, whose brother, Count Igor, a Washington gossip columnist, was tarred and feathered in Warrenton, Va., recently, married the Chicago heiress 10 months ago at Elkton, Md.

JAPANESE GENERAL'S PLANE FLYING LOW WHEN SHOT DOWN

Report to Tokyo Says Chinese Riflemen Attacked It, Causing Death of 12 in Crash.

SHANGHAI, July 18 (AP).—How Chinese riflemen shot down a Japanese warplane, causing the death of its 12 occupants, was disclosed today by Domei, Japanese news agency.

Bad weather had forced the naval bomber to a low altitude on a flight from Hankow to Shanghai. Chinese bullets struck the plane and it crashed near Laotushan in Hupei Province.

Among those killed was Major-General Tomochi Toji.

Two Hurt in Explosion at Plant. SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 18 (AP).—Two men were injured and damage estimated at $50,000 was caused by an explosion in a plant of the United States Gypsum Co. here today. Firemen said asphalt gas in the roofing section caused the explosion. There was no fire following the blast.

Haney Signs to Lead Browns Again in 1940

Here's Fred Haney smiling as he puts his signature to a new contract to manage the Browns again in 1940, with President Don Barnes at the right. The action was taken, Barnes said, "to enable us to carry out our plan of building with younger players."

ST. LOUISANS ADVANCE IN VALLEY TENNIS

By Davison Obear

DES MOINES, Ia., July 18.—Allen Richardson, St. Louis district champion, advanced to the second round of the Missouri Valley boys' singles tennis championship here today by defeating Harold Johnson, Des Moines, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. The St. Louis boy was a little erratic in the second set, but came back strong in the third set, which he won by some very consistent playing.

Bertha Scott, St. Louis girl, defeated Joan Dunn, Des Moines, 6-1, 6-4, in the opening round of the younger girls' division.

Mary O. Lewis won from Barbara Bohen, Des Moines, 6-4, 6-0, in the junior girls' division.

FARIS NAMED COACH OF VENICE HIGH SCHOOL
Earl W. Faris, a former star athlete at Eastern Illinois Teachers' College, was named director of athletics of Venice High School at a special meeting of the Board of Education held last night. Faris, for the past three years, has been coaching baseball and basketball at Rutland (Ill.) High. Faris succeeds Carl Bolin, who resigned last spring.

BEN JONES IN CHARGE OF CALUMET STABLES
CHICAGO, July 18 (AP).—Warren Wright of Chicago announced yesterday Ben A. Jones, famous trainer, had been signed to take complete charge of his Calumet Farm stables.

Jones resigned last week as trainer of Herbert Woolf's Woolford Farms racing string. He is expected to assume charge of the Wright horses at the Saratoga (N. Y.) race meeting.

COWRAY'S COLUMN

We Go Crystal Gazing.

THINGS being what they are in the world, and especially the baseball world, and the future thereof about as difficult to re-construct as a scrambled egg, we took our troubles to a crystal gazer of renown.

We asked him to look into the pellucid ball and give us the low-down on what we may expect to happen to baseball in the not too distant future.

"Do you want a flattering view or do you want to look upon the awful facts?" he inquired.

We told him not to spare us but to turn on the heat—and friend, he did. And here's what he forecast:

A 146-game major league baseball schedule, with nights and Sundays figuring almost 50-50 with week-day games.

Major league adoption of the play-off system used in the minor leagues.

Reduction of the pitcher's distance from the plate by five feet, restoration of freak deliveries, or some other move to restore the power of the pitcher.

Reduction of major league admission charges and shrinkage of major league players' salaries.

Return of the 10-cent beer to the grandstand.

At last a pennant for the Browns!

Hold Your Fire, Bo!

NOW, FRIENDS—Hold your fire. It isn't as bad as you might think. This may really be just another case of self-hypnosis. Maybe he just imagined these changes.

On the other hand, perhaps we may see some glimmer of plausibility in some of them.

For example, baseball once got along with 140 games a season, and that worked pretty well. To day the principal reason for at least 14 of the current 154 games schedule is to furnish synthetic doubleheaders for week-end attractions.

If we had a 140-game season we could start much later, especially if the Sunday double bill

Pool for Players if They Finish Current Campaign In Sixth Place or Higher

By J. Roy Stockton

Fred Haney, manager of the Browns, who last week attracted the attention of the baseball world by attributing the poor showing of his club this season to "too much individualism," will manage the St. Louis American League club again in 1940. Haney signed a new one-year contract at an increased salary with the club today.

Don Barnes, president of the club, who yesterday met with other directors of the team, made the announcement.

Pool for the Players.
It was learned also that the players, as well as their leader, will have an opportunity to share in some extra good fortune. The athletes revealed that while they were in the clubhouse dressing for their doubleheader with the New York Yankees, President Barnes spoke to the squad, telling them that he and the directors liked Boss Haney's work so well that Fred was being hired for another year. Then he went to remark that in any endeavor, the outlook is better when there are some extra chips on the table.

"Now then, boys," Barnes was quoted by a player as saying, "we're going to give you some extra chips. If you can finish sixth in this year's race, there will be $10,000 for you to split up. Vote on it as the players sharing in world's series money vote. Split it up the way you like."

"And if by hard playing you are able to get up to fifth place, the pool will be $15,000. And if you win enough games to get into fourth place at the end of the season, the pool will be $20,000."

"And," said the player, "that's something worth trying for."

The club's feeling about Fred. President Barnes explained his action in rehiring Haney thus: "The management has always been the big problem of the Browns for many years and especially since we took over the club. When we looked for a manager, we went over the whole field in an exhaustive survey and we went after Haney. He did not apply for the job."

"We chose Haney for the job because we believed he could lead, could train young players and correct mistakes and we must build our future on young players. We did not expect miracles and one year is far too short to show in the actual standing of the clubs."

Perhaps one of the misfortunes of the Browns is that the club has had four managers in three playing seasons. No one stayed long enough as manager to solidify our policies or do anything with our methods.

"Under Haney, the club has made definite progress and, as the club stands, with just a little more pitching help, could be a contender next year."

"In taking this action, we wanted to show our appreciation of Haney's

DONALD GIVES ONLY THREE HITS; FIRST SHUTOUT OF YEAR AGAINST HANEY'S MEN

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 18.—Atley Donald, recruit right-hander from Newark, held the Browns to three hits this afternoon and registered his eleventh victory of the season, as the Yankees defeated Fred Haney's men, and gave them their first shutout beating of the year, 9 to 0, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Donald is undefeated thus far this year and the feat of winning 11 successive games is said to be a record for a first-year man.

McQuinn's double in the fourth inning, Berardino's single in the fifth and Grace's single in the sixth were the only hits off the new ace of the Yankee staff.

Howard Mills pitched eight innings for the Browns and was pounded for 13 of the New York hits. Kimberlin finished.

The game attracted about 3500 cash customers.

The first game: FIRST INNING—YANKEES— Clift threw out Crosetti. Rolfe walked. Henrich flied to Sullivan. DiMaggio walked. Rolfe stole third. Powell grounded to McQuinn.

BROWNS— Heffner walked. Grace lined to Crosetti, whose throw to Dahlgren doubled Heffner off first. McQuinn flied to DiMaggio.

SECOND—YANKEES— Gordon hit into the left field bleachers for a home run. It was his fifteenth of the season. Rosar singled to left. Dahlgren singled to right, sending Rosar to third. Clift threw out Donald. Crosetti singled to left, scoring Rosar. Dahlgren stopping at third and Crosetti took second on the throw to the plate. Rolfe struck out. Henrich grounded to McQuinn. TWO RUNS.

BROWNS— Clift popped to Gordon. Gallagher was safe on Crosetti's fumble. Sullivan hit to Gordon and both runners were safe when Gordon threw. Crosetti off second. Spindel flied to DiMaggio. Gallagher taking third. Berardino forced Sullivan. Crosetti to Gordon.

THIRD—YANKEES— DiMaggio doubled to center. Powell popped to Berardino. Gordon fouled to Clift. Rosar walked. Dahlgren struck out. BROWNS— Mills struck out. Heffner fouled to Rosar. Grace popped to Gordon.

FOURTH—YANKEES— Donald was called out on strikes. Crosetti struck out. Rolfe popped to Heffner.

BROWNS— McQuinn doubled to right for the first hit off Donald. Clift flied to DiMaggio. Gallagher lined to Crosetti. Sullivan flied to DiMaggio.

FIFTH—YANKEES— Henrich walked. DiMaggio singled to Berardino. Henrich stole second. Powell popped to Clift. Gordon walked. Rosar singled to left, scoring Henrich. Gordon stopping at second. Dahlgren lined to Grace. ONE RUN.

DERRINGER GIVES BASE ON BALLS, FIRST IN MORE THAN 40 INNINGS

BOSTON, July 18 (AP).—Paul Derringer, veteran Cincinnati pitcher, gave his first base on balls in more than 40 consecutive innings today in the first inning of the Reds' game with the Boston Bees.

Deke Garris, Bees outfielder and second man up, was the first batter Derringer has walked since June 14. The veteran hurler has only allowed a dozen walks this season.

The major league record for consecutive innings without a base on balls is 68, set by Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants—June 19-July 18, 1913. G. Harris White, old-time Chicago hurler, holds the American League record of 65 1-3 innings, set in 1907.

Edwards Take Lead.
A. G. Edwards nosed out the Unions, 2 to 1, in the feature game of a men's doubleheader at the Maplewood Softball Park last night. The victory enabled the Edwards to move into first place. George Bernard, hurling four-hit ball, out-pitched Archie Less.

BILL O'BRIEN JR. UPSET IN FIRST ROUND OF JUNIOR GOLF

BRACKMAN OF FOREST PARK WINS, 4 AND 3

Other Norwood Players, Frank Foss Jr. and Jack Geiss, Advance in District Tourney.

By Robert Morrison

NORWOOD HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, July 18.—An upset marked the first round of match play yesterday in the district junior golf tournament, when Bill O'Brien Jr. of the home club was defeated by Lloyd Brackman of Forest Park, 4 and 3.

O'Brien, who was one of the standouts in qualifying play yesterday with 76, won three holes at the start of his match, but then lost three and was one down at the end of the first nine, on which each player had 38. O'Brien failed to win a hole on the home nine.

Other Norwood representatives fared better. Frank Foss Jr. won from Fuller Glaser of Westwood by 6 and 5 and Jack Geiss turned back Ben Schulein Jr. of Westwood by 4 and 3.

But like young O'Brien, E. E. Grubb Jr. went down to defeat before Jim Jackson of Crystal Lake, by 2 up.

Laird Wasson of Crystal Lake, brother of Lou Wasson, the 1938 champion, who now is over age, gained a 1 up victory in an interesting match with Albert Reilly, also of Crystal Lake. Their scores were: Wasson 36-36-72 and Reilly 37-36-72.

Gene Fehlig, the losing finalist last year and who has played in the tournament for five years, was a one-sided winner, 5 and 4, over Jim Heitert of Westborough. But the 18-year-old Norwood golfer was five over par for the first nine, although reaching the halfway mark of the course 2 up. He was one under perfect figures for the five holes played of the second nine.

efforts and to give him this endorsement of his policy.

Manager Haney was, of course, very happy for the endorsement and the co-operation of the club. He said the team, in the last few days, had shown great improvement and that the morale of the players was definitely better.

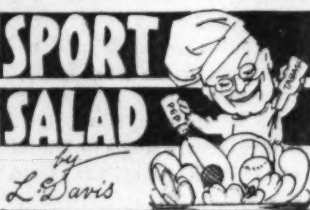

Referring to yesterday's meeting of the board of directors, Brown said he believed the board should know what action was to be taken before, instead of after it was taken, and that he had outlined his plan to the directors and had received their full approval.

Officials have announced that the University City invitational tournament will not be held this season.

Yankees' Latest "Shooting Star" in Action

Atley Donald, the former Louisiana grocery clerk, winner of 11 consecutive games for the world champion Yankees, pictured from the start to the finish of his pitching motion. Donald was on the mound against the Browns in the first half of this afternoon's doubleheader at Sportsman's Park.

No Eviction.

"No Plan to Move Browns," Barnes Says.

Although we heard the moving van was at the cellar door. And so they aim to stick around. And at the old stand will be found. For another year or more.

Battle Is the Word.

The National League pennant race promises to be a battle right down to the wire. A photo finish is indicated if the arms and legs can be untangled long enough to decide which bodies they belong to.

A crowd of 63,064, seeing the Yankees trimming the Indians twice Sunday, would indicate that in spite of their recent slump New York hasn't given up on the Yanks yet.

See where O' Diz has developed more arm trouble.

This time it is the left arm. And thereby hangs a mystery.

Fine!

The fight between Umpire George Magerkuth and Bill Jurgis, shortstop of the Giants, last Saturday in New York, was declared a draw. George was fined $150 and suspended 10 days for hitting Bill and Bill was fined $150 and suspended 10 days for hitting George.

Harry Danning, yclept the "horse," was assessed 50 bucks for pushing Umpire Ballanfant. Demonstrating that it is cheaper to pull your punch than to bring a haymaker from nowhere and land it where it will do the most good.

Bill Terry was nicked 50 berries for failing to co-operate. Indicate-ing that a passive part in the performance doesn't pay so well either.

All of which seems to indicate that the seeded discord sown by Br'er Frick several years ago in which he deplored the absence of the old fighting spirit are beginning to bear fruit. And by their fruits you shall know them.

Sunday was "Morris Aronovich" day in Philadelphia. The celebrant was presented with a complete fishing outfit. So now in addition to leading the National League in batting Morrie will try to lead the Isaak Walton League in baiting.

LITTLE fishy in the brook, Morrie catch him with a hook; With his trusty rod and reel He will quickly fill his creel.

But for variety, quantity and quality, Pepper Martin's collection of farm implements and animals surpasses anything that ever occurred in the gift line. It started as a shower and turned into a cloudburst.

SEEDS STARS ADVANCE IN LONGWOOD PLAY

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 18 (AP).—Gilbert Hunt of Washington, second seeded domestic player in the men's division of the forty-seventh Longwood Bowl tennis tournament, ran into a spotty streak during his third round match against Bobby Low of Los Angeles today and was beaten in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

The top-seeded Gene Mako, the U. S. Davis Cup doubles player, whose opening match was put over a day, got started by polishing off August Ganzmuller of New York, 6-0, 6-1, in another third-rounder.

Mako was slated to oppose Austin D'Arcy of Brookline, in the second round but the latter defaulted, as did two other local players, Sam Fitch and W. F. Rice, to Adrian Quist and Jack Crawford, the Australian Davis cuppers who arrived at noon after a transcontinental flight from Long Beach, Cal., where their forces eliminated the Philippines over the week-end.

As a result Quist moved into the third round against Will Hardie of Miami, and Crawford gained a second round bracket shared by Phillip Jameson of Worcester.

Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., who was third seeded, became the third-quarter-finalist by coming from behind for a hard-earned 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 win over George Pero, the University of Miami player. The last seeded player to go into action was Johnny Doeg of Rumson, N. J., who lost down late in his first round match with Edward Alloo, promoter from behind for a hard-earned 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 win over George Pero, the University of Miami player.

RICHARDS TO COMPETE IN MIDGET AUTO RACE

Ray Richards will drive the injured Harry MacQuinn's car in the midget auto races tonight at Walsh Memorial Stadium. The time trials will begin at 7:30 and the first race at 8:30 o'clock.

Other crack out-of-town drivers entered are Wally Zale, Tony Williams and Ronney Householder, former St. Louis champions; Teddy Duncan, leader in the local points standings; Pete Nielsen, Marshall Lewis and Mike O'Halloran and Pat Cunningham.

Headlining the list of St. Louis pilots enrolled are: Ben Chesney, Jimmy Egan, Clyde Dillon, Elmer Noeth, Shorty Burns, Rex Easton and Port de Fratis. The program will be topped by a 35-lap race.

More About Merchandising.

are naturals. You can't escape them. Night games have sold themselves to both leagues, except in New York, and the reasons are: Cincinnati's sustained big attendance; Brooklyn's successful adoption of the idea; 34,000 attendance at a night Athletics home game; Cleveland's 55,000 record night attendance.

Those are real records and you can't get away from them. Magazines won't try but will invest more and more in night baseball. Give them about three years to be unanimous about it.

When you come to selling anything, you have to consider the element of time; and today, you find the greatest number of available customers at night.

And as for Sunday—well, the club owner, having ruined his own week-day attendance, will have Sundays left to him.

Of course, if the town has a pennant winner, customers may turn out on week-days.

But, for all practical purposes, the second division clubs of both leagues can't expect much from the week-day of the future. If the club-owner made his bed by bad merchandising, he must lie on it. He did the seemingly absurd selling stunt of giving the public for the same price twice as much on Sunday (the only holiday of the seven) as he gave to them on week days. The "natural" would be to give the double-bill on week days.

The ordinary week-day game, therefore, seems likely to become a dud.

What's that? You know we're seeing things? Well, perhaps. But we're only being stuck around and see some more.

That Playoff Again.

IN ALL LIKELIHOOD, as once suggested in this column, another queer thing we'll see will be the majors borrowing a leaf from the minor leagues' book—the Shaughnessy playoff system of deciding the pennant.

You all know what that is. But in these days of runaway races it recommends itself to a league like the American, which annually sees one club gallop to the front and remain there. The contention often is limited to a battle for second place.

But perhaps it would not be under the Shaughnessy system. Perhaps some team, off to a bad start, would find itself in mid-season, and develop real power, too late to close the gap opened up by the Yanks, however.

Baltimore Negro Beats Beauhuld

NEWARK, N. J., July 18 (AP).—Billy White, 138, Baltimore Negro, finishing strong in the final two sessions, took a close decision over Billy Beauhuld, 139, of St. Louis and Jersey City, last night in a 10-round boxing bout.

White was far from his usual form, but forced the fighting most of the way to take five rounds on Referee White Healey's card for his second victory over Beauhuld. The St. Louisan was credited with three rounds and the others were called even.

well, we have little expectation of convincing Blake Harper of its prospective advent. But you can't get away from that crystal.

And this brings us to that pennant for the Browns. This, of course, will seem just a hash-hish vision. But we stand on our constitutional right to hope.

The Browns haven't won a flag since they joined the league in 1902, but after all that makes the odds against them only 38 to 1—comparatively insignificant.

And yet we bet on the Dublin Sweep with the odds 200,000 to 1 against you.

LOU COMISKEY, OF CHICAGO SOX, IS GRAVELY ILL

EAGLE RIVER, Wis., July 18 (AP).—J. Louis Comiskey, 54-year-old owner of the Chicago White Sox, was gravely ill today at his summer estate near here.

Dr. Russell Oldfield, attending physician, began administering oxygen to the baseball magnate late last night.

Dr. Oldfield said, however, Comiskey appeared "brighter" and that there was "some hope." Comiskey's wife was summoned from Chicago yesterday when his condition became alarming. His three children, two daughters and a son, already were vacationing with him here.

A heart ailment, which has bothered him for years, was aggravated recently by a cold and complications.

Dr. Oldfield remained with Comiskey throughout yesterday and last night. He was still in attendance this morning. Mrs. Oldfield said she understood Comiskey's illness had developed into pneumonia.

Comiskey, who weighs around 375 pounds, has been ill periodically for many years and has spent considerable time in hospitals and sanitariums. His tremendous weight has been a handicap in his recovery, but he has pulled through several serious illnesses.

Comiskey inherited the White Sox from his father, Charles A. Comiskey, who died here in 1931 at the summer retreat.

DOES NOT LIKE IDEA OF BEING ORDERED HO

Sticks to His Story That Cut His Arm Rea for Telephone in a Room.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP).—Dean may not be his old self pitching mound, but he returns brilliant form in the pop-off today with a verbal blast at Hartnett, manager of the Cubs.

Hartnett sent Dean home New York Sunday with his legs gashed under mysterious circumstances and O' Diz didn't bit.

"I don't belong here, I with the team," Dizy told. "What are they doing, a set out of me? I wonder behind it all, anyway."

"I know the Cubs are not a winning streak on this trip if disciplining me for some didn't do will help—well, he glad to co-operate. But I be with the team."

The versions of how Diz his arm rolled in from all sides was reported he had had trouble, had been fighting slipped on a soap hotel lobby ad infinitum.

MORGENTHAU CALLS LENDING PROGRAM SOUND

Tells Senate Committee
Self-Liquidating Projects
Would Ease Drain on Federal Revenue.

'SUBSTITUTE FOR AID NOT RECOVERABLE'

He Urges Plan as Means of Bringing Together Holders of Idle Money and Borrowers.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau praised the President's $2,800,000,000 lending bill today as a "real advance toward the goal of bringing our governmental expenditures within our receipts."

Testifying before the Senate Banking Committee, he said he liked the idea of lending billions of dollars for self-liquidating projects.

"It may well turn out to mark a transition point in the public finances," he asserted, adding:

"It is to substitute self-liquidating investments in place of outright Government expenditures we shall have made a great step toward bridging the gap between revenue and expenditures."

"This distinction between self-liquidating investments and non-recoverable expenditures is not merely a bookkeeping one, but is very soundly based."

Payments Out of Earnings.

"In the case of non-recoverable expenditures the servicing of the debt created to finance them must be met out of general tax revenues. However, in the case of self-liquidating loans such as are proposed in this bill, the interest and amortization payments are met out of the earnings on the investment."

Morgenthau's formal statement made no mention of the administration's desire to pass the bill at this session instead of waiting until next year as some legislators have proposed, but yesterday he told reporters he favored immediate action.

Morgenthau reviewed major provisions of the bill. These included items which, over the period of a few years, would provide $750,000,000 for highway projects; $350,000,000 for loans to municipalities; $500,000,000 for leasing railroad equipment; $400,000,000 additional for rural electrification projects; $500,000,000 additional loans to farm tenants to enable them to buy their own land, and an additional $100,000,000 for export-import bank credits to finance foreign purchases of American merchandise.

$800,000,000 for Housing.

Another part of the program, doubling the present $800,000,000 borrowing power of the United States Housing Authority, is in separate legislation.

Morgenthau told the committee he did not "wish to predict that the Government will suffer no loss on any of the various features" of the program, but said the projects had been selected because of "a high probability of repayments."

Mentioning idle money in the banks and low interest rates, Morgenthau said:

"It is times like the present it therefore becomes the Government's function to act as a catalytic agent to bring together investors who are willing to lend their savings at rates of interest low enough and borrowers who are able and willing to employ funds for productive purposes."

"Low Interest Potent Weapon."

"A low rate of interest, if effectively utilized, constitutes one of the most potent weapons our economic system has developed for stimulating business activity."

"It is this principle of low interest rates which is utilized in the bill before you. The Government is bringing together idle funds and borrowers who are unable to borrow under existing circumstances. It does more than that."

"It creates the additional incentive for lenders to lend and for the borrowers to borrow by giving the help of approval and administrative assistance to useful and paying enterprises which otherwise would not be undertaken at this time. Thus men and capital now unemployed are put to work."

"It is an economic loss to permit investment funds to lie unused when they could be used in productive effort. But that loss is trivial in comparison with the permanent and irreparable economic loss of allowing men of many skills to be idle when there is useful work that they could be doing."

Questioned by Taft.

In questioning Morgenthau after he had read his statement, Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio), contended that a provision in the bill for construction of toll roads could not be classified as self-liquidating because "toll roads are not feasible" in this country.

WAGNER ACT IS FAIR, SAYS PHILIP MURRAY

CIO Leader Tells House Group Proposed Amendments
Would Weaken Labor.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Philip Murray, CIO vice-president, who heads the Tee Workers' Organizing Committee, told the House Labor Committee today that proposed amendments to the Wagner Labor Act were designed "to reduce workers to their former status of weakness."

Murray was the first of the witnesses to present the official CIO view in respect to amendments sponsored by American Federation of Labor leaders.

While Murray asserted the National Labor Relations Act "is fair," he disputed A. F. of L. contention that the Labor Board was pro-CIO. He said:

"In practically every case in which there has been a conflict between an A. F. of L. craft union and the SWOC, the board has upheld the contentions of the A. F. of L. and permitted it to nibble away at our industrial organization."

Equitable Relations.

He discussed labor union history at length and, closing, asserted: "The hectic campaign to amend the act is evidence of the fact that the act is evidence of its essential fairness. The chief purpose of the act was to even up the bargaining power between employers and workers. Equitable relations between a worker and his employer are impossible when one party is far superior in strength to the other."

"The act is fair. The proposed amendments are unfair... because they propose to turn the balance of power back to employers so that they can force the workers back to their former status of weakness."

"The act has been the strongest single force in the development of our growing industrial democracy in America today. It should be preserved."

A. F. of L. Man Supports Act.

Meanwhile, the Senate Labor Committee heard J. Vernon Burke, secretary of Labor's Non-Partisan League in California and a member of A. F. of L. unions, testify that the "great majority of the membership of the A. F. of L. does not approve the amendments, because these permit practices on the part of the employers which this act was established to prevent, and which should not now be made legal."

The proposed amendments are designed to lessen the board's discretionary power by setting one statutory requirement it must follow.

News Agency in Spain Reports
Italian Foreign Minister Made
Statement Before Leaving Home.

MALAGA, Spain, July 18 (AP).—Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano was quoted today as saying Generalissimo Franco would "soon go to Italy."

A news agency said the statement was made before Ciano sailed last night for Rome after an eight-day visit in Spain.

LEAGUE REPORTS U. S. HOLDS 58 PCT. OF WORLD'S GOLD

Nearly Five Times as Much as France, Which Has Next Largest Amount.

GENEVA, July 18 (AP).—The United States held 58 per cent of the world's visible gold reserves on March 31, nearly five times as much as any other nation, a bulletin of the League of Nations reported today.

France was next with 12½ per cent, Great Britain held almost 11 per cent, The Netherlands 3½ per cent, Switzerland 2½ per cent, and Belgium 2 per cent.

The bulletin said these latter figures represented about 30 per cent of the world's visible gold.

Canada led the world in increasing exports of goods during April and May, the bulletin said. It raised exports 22½ per cent while Britain was next with 20 per cent, followed by Japan with 15 per cent. Other percentage increases were: Germany, 11½ per cent; the United States, 10½ per cent, and Belgium, 7½ per cent.

BILL TO BAR MARRIED WOMEN FROM STATE JOBS BEATEN

Massachusetts Representatives Defeat
The Proposal by Vote of 129-78.

BOSTON, July 18 (AP).—The Massachusetts House of Representatives rejected yesterday a proposal to bar married women from State jobs.

The House defeated the proposal by a vote of 129-78.

The text came on an amendment designed to circumvent an advisory opinion of the State Supreme Court that the proposal was unconstitutional.

Thomas Hannon (Dem.), Boston, author of the amendment, said the bill would prevent women whose husbands earned more than $3000 a year from holding a State job.

COURT NULLIFIES WALLACE ORDER AGAINST PACKER

U. S. Appeals Tribunal
Sets Aside Decree for Change in Credit Practices of Swift & Co.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided yesterday that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had exceeded his powers in ordering Swift & Co., meat packers, to "cease and desist" from certain credit, discount and weight practices.

The decision setting aside the Secretary's order of June 6, 1938, said the order "presupposes" that the Stockyards and Packers Act gave him "power at least as comprehensive as the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission in its field."

"We find no evidence in the act of an intention by Congress to confer such a power upon the Secretary of Agriculture," said the opinion, written by Judge Walter E. Trenor and concurred in by Judges J. Earl Major and Otto Kern.

Quoting from the act, the court commented: "The foregoing language does not purport to confer any authority directly to regulate prices, or discounts or sales methods, and clearly does not contemplate the exercise of any authority to establish uniformity of practice in respect thereto."

Wallace Charged.

Wallace had charged that the company extended credit to certain customers for 30 to 90 days and limited credit to other purchasers to periods of five to seven days.

The company's appeal, based on the proceedings had been instituted by the sole benefit of a small group of purveyors of meat in the New York area and that the effect of the desired order would be to aid an effort to drive Swift & Co. out of competition with these purveyors.

The decision stated there was "no finding that the credit terms are in themselves objectionable according to the standards of trade."

The court also found that Wallace's order was "fundamentally defective" in that it required Swift & Co. either to give up its lucrative business with institutional buyers or to extend the same credit terms to all its customers—even to one having the lowest credit rating.

The judges said that the business practices complained of in general were justified and not obnoxious to law.

Company's Statement.

John Holmes, Swift & Co. president, issued a statement that "it is Swift & Co.'s policy always to conduct its business in accordance with fair business practices and in compliance with the letter and spirit of the law."

The secretary's order alleging weight discrimination said the company sold boxed meats on marked weights at the same price that it charged for meats sold removed from containers. The company said that boxed meats were sold on marked box weights, but that when sold out of the box it is priced higher per pound.

The company had contended also that Wallace's order was not only so indefinite and ambiguous that the company could not decide what course to follow, but also that it was an attempt to regulate in detail the private affairs and business of the company.

ITALIANS HARNESS VOLCANOES' STEAM TO RUN RAILROAD

Wells Tap Vapor Pockets,
Produce Electricity for Power and Lights.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)
LARDARELLO, Italy.—In the Valley of Hell near here volcanoes are providing electric power for Italy. Production has been increased this year and eight turbine plants now turn out 33,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month, furnishing power for the electrified Pisa-Rome Railway line and light and power for several towns. Use of this steam saves Italy from importing about 500 tons of coal a month.

Southern Tuscany is famous for geysers of volcanic water vapor. The Valley of Hell—Valle Dell'Inferno—at the side of Mount Cerboli, is a particularly hot spot. The subsoil has volcanic heat and water, which produces steam.

Wells have been drilled, some of them 1000 feet deep. Just before the level of steam is reached the workmen retreat and wait for the blow-off. Rocks, mud, lava and steam sometimes shoot 1000 feet into the air, wrecking the drilling equipment.

A well is allowed to "clean itself out" for a few weeks, and then is capped when its steam is gushing freely. There are 286 wells in the Valley of Hell supplying pipe lines to power plants of the vicinity.

SOL BLOOM NEW CHAIRMAN OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS IN HOUSE

Seniority Gives New Yorker Post
Made Vacant by Death of Sam
McReynolds.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Representative Sol Bloom (Dem.), New York, who devoted several years to teaching Americans more about George Washington, was advanced to the chairmanship of the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday.

Bloom, who is the ranking Democrat on the committee, was elected by the committee to the chairmanship in accordance with the long-standing practice of giving it to the majority member of longest service. The chairmanship became vacant through the recent death of Representative Sam D. McReynolds of Tennessee. During McReynolds' long illness, Bloom was acting chairman.

The new chairman, who represents a Manhattan district, was director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission of 1932. He also was director-general of the Constitution Sesquicentennial Commission which concluded last April the celebration of the adoption of the Constitution and the inauguration of George Washington.

HORNER SIGNS BILL REVISING TEACHERS' PENSION SYSTEM

Reserve Fund to Be Established in Illinois; 35,000 to Increase Contributions.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 18 (AP).—The McLaughlin-Wood bill revising the pension system for about 35,000 Illinois teachers so a reserve fund may be established was approved today by Gov. Horner.

Under the revision, teachers will be called on to contribute 4 per cent of their salaries, about three times what they were contributing under the old system.

As far as the teachers are concerned, the plan is to remain on a pay-as-you-go basis for its contributions. Originally the bill called for State participation in the actuarial plan.

Under the new system, teachers withdrawing from the plan before the pension eligibility age of 25 years service is reached will be refunded their contributions in full.

40,000 Uniformed Children In Franco's Madrid Parade

Spain Celebrates Third Anniversary of Civil War's Outbreak With 'Fiesta for Exaltation of Labor.'

MADRID, July 18 (AP).—Madrid, who three years ago shook clenched fists at Generalissimo Francisco Franco, raised open hands today in salute to the flags of the conquerors, as they joined Nationalists in celebrating the third anniversary of the outbreak of the civil war.

A cool day, relief after a heat wave, drew thousands out to line the curbs or sit at sidewalk cafes sipping drinks, while an estimated 40,000 uniformed Falangist (Spanish Fascist) boys and girls marched along Castellana boulevard.

Other thousands watched workers of the reorganized National Syndicalist groups parade with the tools of their trades in Retiro Park. Spain celebrated the day as a "fiesta for the exaltation of labor," marking a shift in emphasis from the soldier to the workingman.

The labor creed was contained in a message which the Ministry for Organization of Syndical Action ordered employers to read at today's luncheons.

It called for "social justice" and salaries not only "sufficient for the worker and his family to satisfy vital needs" but also to permit the humble classes to have access to a higher level of culture.

Grief for those who died in the 32 months of warfare that ended March 28 was mingled with the joy of the celebration. Throughout Spain, masses were said for the fallen. The day's festivities included workers' parades, banquets and bull fights. Many employers gave their help a day's or a week's salary as a present.

POLITICAL ACTIVITY MEASURE REVISED

Senator Hatch and Representative Rewrite Bill Aimed at Officeholders.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Senator Hatch and Representative Dempsey, New Mexico Democrats, said today they had rewritten the former's bill curtailing political activities of Government employees in order to eliminate confusion and gain support for the measure.

Dempsey said he would offer the substitute in the House on Thursday.

The revised bill forbids officials in the executive branch of the Government, with a few exceptions, to use official authority to influence an election.

The new draft, it is said, retains the principles of the bill as approved by the Senate. Hatch had contended that changes made by the House Judiciary Committee weakened the measure.

A provision in the rewritten bill, Hatch said, would prevent Federal officeholders from taking any part in national political conventions.

Hatch said he thought the phrase "executive branch of the Federal Government" would include such agencies as the Social Security Board, the TVA and the RFC.

The measure would exempt members of Congress and their staffs, he said, Dempsey said, should be in a category apart from administrative officials.

It would exclude, too, the President and the Vice-President, employees of the President's office, reads and assistant, heads of executive departments, and officers confirmed by the Senate who determine policies of the nation "in its relations with foreign Powers or in the nationwide administration of Federal laws."

Violation would be punishable by removal from office. The new bill retains language intended to guarantee all persons the right to vote as they choose and to "express their opinions on all political subjects."

HOUSE RULES CHAIRMAN SEES PRESIDENT ON PHILIPPINE BILL

Sabath Says That Measure Aiding Island's Industry May Be Expedited.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Chairman Sabath (Dem.), Illinois, of the House Rules Committee, said today after a White House call that the committee probably would give right of way to legislation to cushion Philippine industry against import taxes being imposed in order to independence of the islands.

Sabath said he had discussed that measure with the President as well as bills to authorize a $277,000,000 set of new locks for the Panama Canal and to create the King's Canyon Wilderness Park in California.

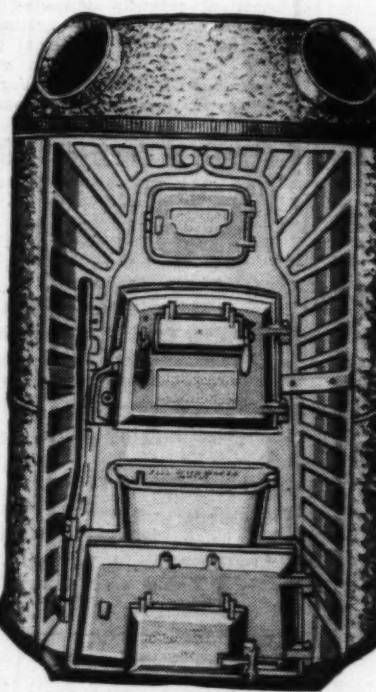

"I just wanted to know how the President stood on these bills," the chairman said, adding that the canal proposal would probably be expedited also.

Commodities were mixed. Following a slump at Liverpool, wheat turned downward at Chicago, but later rallied. Bonds moved about but lost some of their gains as the rails landed the list.

Foreign Markets Firm.

Foreign markets were firm more active, with United States favored.

Non-New York participation in the market was considerably more than has been usual recently, a commission hunter was reported. Most of the selling was done by Wall Street, who were anxious to cash in yesterday and the first hour of today.

Higher and in demand were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Johns-Manville, Eastman, Owens Illinois, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, du Pont, Union Carbide and United Aircraft.

New highs for the year were touched by Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

Suffering in the afternoon was the Dow Jones Industrial Average, as the American Telephone & Telegraph, General Electric, General Motors, Chesapeake & Ohio, Phillips Petroleum, American Express, Morris, North American and Western Union.

Wonderful How Calotabs the Nauseous Calomel Compound Tablet Makes you Feel so Fine the Next Morning.

The old-time calomel was the doctor's favorite remedy for biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot weather, but it had some serious drawbacks from the standpoint of the patient. The nauseating and sickening after-effects and the necessity to follow it with a dose of Epsom salts made many of us hate to take it. Now you can really enjoy your calomel, for Calotabs make calomel-taking a pleasure. They give you the combined effects of calomel and salts without the disagreeable sensations. When you feel grouch and bilious take one or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of water or sweet milk. Next morning your system feels clean and refreshed, your head is clear, your spirit is bright, and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish and go about your work or pleasure. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in checker-board (black and white) packages bearing the trade mark "Calotabs." Avoid imitations. Family package only twenty-five cents; trial package ten cents at your dealer's.

SPECTACULAR $100,000 FIRE IN PITTSBURGH STOCKYARDS

Blaze, Apparently Starting in Hay Storage, Sweeps Through 30-Block Pen Area. PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18 (AP).—A spectacular eight-alarm fire which swept through the Pittsburgh stockyards on a mile-long North Side island early today caused damage estimated at $100,000. The blaze, which raged for five hours and sent flames shooting 100 feet into the air, apparently started in hay storage near the Armour packing plant. Firemen succeeded in preventing the fire from reaching the plant. Only 15 head of cattle died as the fire roared through frame buildings and stock pens covering an area of 10 blocks long and three blocks wide. Heavy sales yesterday left few cattle in the yards. The flames, visible for miles, were so hot they caused a 19-inch buckle in a traffic bridge passing over Little Herr's Island, which is formed by the Allegheny River and a creek.

BRITISH AND POLISH MILITARY TALKS BEGIN

English General in Warsaw Seeks to Co-ordinate Armies' Strength.

WARSAW, July 18 (AP).—Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside began today the task of co-ordinating Polish and British military strength in talks with Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, commander-in-chief of Polish armed forces, and War Minister Gen. Tadeusz Kasprzycki. Gen. Ironside, inspector-general of British overseas forces, also was to confer with Foreign Minister Col. Joseph Beck on political-military aspects of the present situation in Eastern Europe.

The Polish press displayed a new surge of confidence that the visit of Gen. Ironside, who flew here from England yesterday, would have a "decisive influence" on the situation by serving as a new warning to Germany. The conservative newspaper Czas wrote that "Gen. Ironside represents in a way not only Britain but also France in that the purpose of his visit is to co-ordinate military strength." Poland has had some 750,000 men on a war footing for almost four months during tension over German demands for annexation of the Free City of Danzig and a right-of-way through Pomorze (the Polish Corridor). Polish officials say the country could place 2,000,000 men between 18 and 35 in the field, with another 2,000,000 in reserve. It is an army which has been adapted to the particular problems of Polish defense and to Poland's national pocketbook.

AID NAMED IN STATE FIGHT FOR FIRE INSURANCE REFUNDS

Frank Hollingsworth of Mexico, Mo., to Assist in Attempt to Recover $8,000,000 From 137 Firms. Special to the Post-Dispatch. MEXICO, Mo., July 18. — Judge Charles L. Henson, chief counsel of the Missouri Insurance Department, announced here today the appointment of Frank Hollingsworth, Mexico attorney, as his assistant in hearings demanding for the department return of $8,000,000 from 137 out-of-State stock fire insurance companies, to Missouri policyholders.

The selection was made, said Judge Henson, who was in Mexico to confer with Hollingsworth, former State Senator and close associate of Gov. Stark, by the chief executive and Insurance Superintendent Ray E. Lucas. Hearings are to begin July 24 in St. Louis, followed by others at Chicago July 24; New York, July 31, and Hartford, Conn., Boston, Pittsburgh and other Eastern cities on dates yet to be fixed. Presiding at the hearings will be Paul V. Barnett of Kansas City as special master, named by Federal Judges Kimbrough Stone, Merrill E. Otis and Albert L. Reeves of Kansas City, to whom Barnett will turn his findings. "We wish to ascertain the connections of the 137 companies with R. E. O'Malley, when he was State Insurance Superintendent, and with the compromise settlement they made with him," Judge Henson said in commenting on the hearings. "The State Insurance Department contends that settlement was contaminated."

CITY ART MUSEUM BUYS WATER COLORS FOR $1100

Four water colors, two by American painters and two by Europeans, have been bought by the City Art Museum from the current international exhibition of water colors and sketches now on view at the museum.

The pictures and the prices paid for them are: "Dolores" by Ambrose McEvoy, English, $500; "Watermill," Maurice de Vlaminck, French, $300; "Long Island Winter," Emil Ganso, American, $100; and "February, New Mexico," Elliot O'Hara, American, $200. They will remain on view with the rest of the exhibit until the end of the month. They will then be shipped with the exhibition to other cities, but will be brought back here for permanent showing.

10,000,000-BALE MINIMUM ON COTTON GOES TO PRESIDENT

House Agrees to Senate Figure; Present Quota Is 12,000,000 Bales.

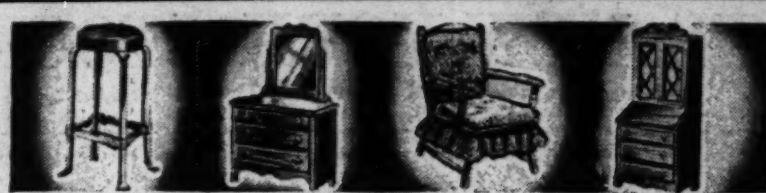

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—The House completed congressional action today on a bill fixing average annual cotton production under the Agriculture Department's control program at not less than 10,000,000 bales. The present minimum is 12,000,000.

The measure now goes to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature. The new minimum will become effective for the 1940 crop. The House first voted 11,500,000 bales but agreed today to the Senate figure of 10,000,000.

MAN BEATS WIFE'S LAWYER IN OFFICE OF PROSECUTOR

Maurice Shenker Suffers Cut Lip and Bruises; Sam Lafata Arrested.

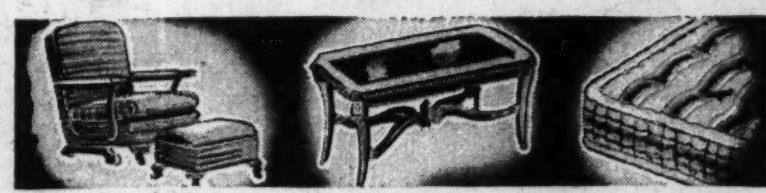

Maurice Shenker, an attorney, suffered a cut lip and bruises of the face today when he was beaten in the office of Assistant Prosecutor Attorney John E. Swanson by Sam Lafata, 4827 Page boulevard. Shenker was representing Mrs. One Lafata, who had complained that her husband, from whom she is separated, had been annoying her. Lafata, who said he is unemployed, was arrested and taken to police headquarters.

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE M-168: Miriam V., aged 20, is an actress of marked ability. "For years I have been worried, though," she announced as soon as she sat down across from me, "because I think I may be losing my mind. My problem is very unusual, Dr. Crane, and I wonder if you have ever encountered anything like it before."

"Whenever I hear certain words spoken, I immediately see various colors. For example, the word 'noise' always calls up the color red. The word 'girl' makes me see lavender. 'Stairs' sound yellow to me, if you get what I mean. And various notes on the piano have their characteristic color. In fact, the tenor and bass, the alto and soprano in the church choir always arouse the same colors. It isn't the person, for we may have a visiting tenor, for example, and he makes me see my typical 'tenor' color. 'Dr. Crane, did you ever hear of anything so strange? Am I crazy?'"

DIAGNOSIS: We human beings are extremely egotistical. If we have an ache or pain, or some psychological quirk, we tend to think that no other person since Adam and Eve has ever had that same kind of experience. Miriam's condition is comparatively common. I used to have it myself until the middle teens, and thousands of you readers have also visualized colors when certain words or tones were heard.

It is called synesthesia. It has nothing to do with insanity, so Miriam is wrong in both of her beliefs regarding its uniqueness and abnormality. The association of specific colors with definite words or tones is not only a commonplace in psychology, but various experiments have been conducted with reference to it. Children have been tested with long lists of words to find if they are consistent in their synesthesia, and have proved very much so.

Suppose we read off a list of 300 words to such a youngster. Let us assume that the eighth word on the list is "noise" and the child says he sees the color "red," as was true of Miriam in today's case. Then we call off different words until we come to the 287th on the list, which will say is a repetition of No. 8. The child may instantly call out "red" to this second contact with "noise." In some cases there is a slight variation. He may respond with "purple" instead of "red."

NOW LET'S SUPPOSE we lay aside this list of words with their associated colors, and 10 or 20 years later, repeat the experiment. What do you think would happen?

Well, some people lose this ability to visualize colors after the passage of years. This was true in my own case. But others retain it, and show fairly consistent results between their later tests and those made many years previously.

Space will not permit a discussion of the theories underlying synesthesia, but I have presented today's case primarily to show you how Miriam's ignorance on this point caused needless worry and dread of insanity. There is truly a Road to Happiness through the wilderness of ignorance and superstition which have too long fettered mankind. Logics and truth will guide you safely along this road.

Playing Safe - By Elsie Robinson

A BUNCH of youngsters discussing marriage—was it safe to tackle Family Life before one was 25? Many enthusiastic "Yesses!"... but an equal number of cautious or frankly embittered "Nos!" Most of them deciding it wasn't smart until you'd eliminated the worst hazards.

ELSIE ROBINSON.

One from Clark Dunn, 23, of Santa Barbara, Cal., was typical. Clark's strong for marriage, but—

"I won't take chances of making a girl or myself unhappy by too early marriage. I want to be a success. I want my wife to be proud of me. I expect to have to take chances if I wish to get a foothold in this complex civilization of ours. But the time to gamble is before marriage, not after. After marriage I expect to settle down, run no more risks."

Wait until everything's safe—that isn't just one youngster's attitude toward marriage. It's fast becoming all American's attitude toward life! Rather tragic in a land that was founded by the spunkiest gamblers the world ever saw! And peopled by generations whose Favorite Dish was Danger.

IT'S MORE THAN TRAGIC. For there is no such thing as a safe and sure existence, a life without risks. Life is growth. And growth means action. And action inevitably implies struggle and change. All of which adds up to hazard.

As long as we live we must gamble—whether we like it or not. And the more you live, the greater the risk. Rich lives, powerful lives, are always dangerous lives. The only safe and sure people are the dead ones.

Granted—one sees people who seem to have eliminated all uncertainty from their plans—poised, prudent mortals stalking pompously around conference tables. But these people are not really alive! They are the husks of men... "Zombies"—like the "living dead" in which some Haitian Negroes believe... Zombies who go through the motions of life, but never feel the glorious surge and sting of its red-blooded desire.

YOU CANNOT LIVE a sure life. Even if you could completely control your environment and your neighbors. Your own nature would keep you forever unsettled and uncertain. For we ourselves are our own greatest risk, and risk. With each day, hour and minute, we change. With each new thought, we move into uncharted territory. And with that movement we encounter challenges as demoralizing as any Indian fighter ever faced.

Always peril—if you wish and dare to really live. Always questions you cannot answer. Experiments you cannot solve. Doubts, fears and frustrations which will make a mess of your tidiest plans! But life's worth the risks... worth all the risk you are willing to take—and then some!

Don't wait for a perfect life! Embrace an imperfect one! Don't hope for security! Rejoice in insecurity! Don't resist risk! Thank God that he has endowed you with that divine spark which glories in adventure and smiles at hazard!

Thank God you are part of his own greatest gamble... and dare to live up to your role!

Some Children Need Training In Co-operation

Only Child Usually Has Trouble Adapting Himself to Give and Take.

By Angelo Patri

HANS is past two, the only child in the family so far. This is the first time he has been allowed to play with other children and he is not doing as well as his mother expected. With her he is the best of children, obeying cheerfully, playing games happily, amusing himself alone for hours. With the other children he is quite different.

"Don't you want to take out your wagon? You could haul those little cars of yours in it instead of carrying them," suggests mother, seeing him with his arms piled high with tiny cars which he loves.

"No, the kids will use it. I'm going to play with the cars." In a few minutes there are sounds of battle. Mother rushes out, the mothers of other children appear in doorways and windows. "Hans pinched a piece out of me," wails his victim.

Hans says nothing. He has turned his back on his friends and is busy with his cars, to which he has added those of the others if they happened to have had any.

Now Hans' mother is weary of this. She knows that the other mothers are about out of patience and that soon the neighbor children will be withdrawn from Hans' presence. His mother is ashamed of the boy's behavior, she fears his isolation; the only thing she can do now to prove her rightness to the other mothers, and to save her boy's place for him, is to spank him. This she does without effect. Next day it is the same story with variations. He slaps, bites, scratches and pinches according to his impulse. What now?

Don't spank him. Take him into the house the instant he shows his clenched hoof. Don't talk beyond saying, "It's too bad. You don't know how to play without hurting somebody. Stay by yourself," and leave him. Without anything to play with, without anybody to speak to, until the isolation brings understanding of his cause. That takes anywhere from an hour to a couple of days. Then try him again, and keep on with this routine training until he gets by this difficult place. You see he has never learned the experience of playing with other children. It requires a give and take that he knows nothing about. When his mother plays with him he always gets, never gives. He cannot lose. But when he plays with children it is every one for himself. At this age that must be so. Little children play as individuals, not as a group.

Occasionally the inexperienced little one gets himself slapped by one of the others. When that happens don't interfere. Let him hold his own and slap back. Interference only if the combatants take to arms.

Children who are members of a family group rarely have this trouble. Brothers and sisters are not shy about protecting their belongings, their rights and privileges, and soon learn to adjust themselves to the group. It is the single child who needs to be introduced to his neighbors, and early.

NEW YORK, July 18.

"THE art of entertainment," said Charles Laughton, pontificating—with his shoes off and his feet neatly tucked away underneath him—on a couch at the Sherry-Netherland, "need not necessarily concentrate on love's early light."

The serenely professional expression vanished from his face. His eyes blinked and his underlip puffed out as he screwed his whole body around in an effort to peer closely at his auditor.

"Do you understand what I mean?" he demanded earnestly. "It's all part of what I've been yelling from the houseposts for years—that all those so-called literati who say that the legitimate stage is art and high-brow and intellectual, while the screen is low-brow and stupid idiots."

"Those fools are the ones who insist that people who go to films for entertainment must be played down to; that they're interested only in the most obvious aspects of life; that once you've established in your screen story that your hero and heroine are going to have an affair—whether sanctified by marriage or not—you've reached the high spot of your picture and must write finish."

Laughton jumped to his feet and started prowling about the room. He impatiently waved aside the shoes which a solicitous attendant offered him.

"What I'm interested in seeing in films," he declared, "is less of the 'how they make it' and more of what happens to Cinderella after she marries Prince Charming. I think the average filmgoer is, too."

"After all, marital relationship is a vast, unexplored territory for the screen. Certainly more than half of whatever problems it presents to people have nothing whatever to do with any aspects of romance. The amazing part of the whole thing is that while the romances of every couple in the world may be totally different in every respect, it's the additional problems of the married state that offer a common meeting ground on which every one can feel understanding for the other fellow's headaches and problems.

"What to do about the children's schooling; how to settle whether the husband's parents or the wife's shall live with the couple; whether it's better to borrow money to get a new car or make the old one do for another season; whether to let the husband ask for a raise or wait until times get better and the firm voluntarily gives him one—those are problems which every one in the high spot of your picture and must write finish."

ACTOR SAYS MOVIE STORIES END BADLY

Charles Laughton, English Film Star, Wants to Know What Happens to Cinderella After She Marries Prince Charming.

MAUREEN O'HARA WITH LAUGHTON IN "JAMAICA INN."

chester, in "The Beachcomber," he nodded vigorously. "There you are," he said. "That proves exactly what I've been saying. The Beachcomber audiences knew that in real life Elsa and I were married. They didn't mind it in the least, and I'm convinced that it was due in large part to the feeling on the part of every one that a man and wife can interpret those intimate little details of married life, and even courtship relationships, in a way that would be impossible to persons who have just been introduced to each other by the director."

"I don't see any reason why, when stage audiences have accepted married couples like Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne, Sir Seymour and Lady Hicks, E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, and Fredric March and Florence Eldridge, a taboo has arisen on similar terms in films. I'd like to do a picture—if we could get suitable material—with Elsa every year or 18 months. I'd like to see the Marches—Freddie and Florence—joined on the screen just as they are on the stage and in real life. Because I definitely feel that there is no reason to lose the smoother performances which can be given by a man and his wife who have lived together and who know each other's every little mood."

"For instance, take the situation in 'The Admirable Crichton,' which I am going to do in London immediately after finishing 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' in Hollywood. In that picture I'll play opposite two women—Lady Mary, played by Maureen O'Hara, whom you'll see with me in 'Jamaica Inn,' and 'Twenty, the little slave, whom Elsa will play."

"No matter what kind of fellow Crichton wants to be, 'Twenty' always tells him off, and brings him back to earth. When he's a servant, bowing and scraping before his superiors, she tries to make him buck up and be a man; when he turns into a dictator, she's the one who knocks him off his high horse. Show me any actress in the whole world who could do that better than the wife of the man who will play Crichton."

"We wound up by changing her name on the set. We had started by calling her 'Baby' and treating her like one, but after three days we never referred to the child as anything but 'Miss Menace.' And if she ever tries to make me wait until you see her do her stuff. She's a positive menace to any one who plays against her. She'd steal scenes from any one alive today, just by the sheer quality of her acting. I'm convinced of that."

"Mention of 'The Admirable Crichton,' which Laughton's own Mayflower Company will produce for Paramount release, suggesting the paucity of information available on Miss O'Hara, Laughton waved aside the thought that he act as her press agent, and telephoned her room in the hotel to have her come up and talk for herself. Meanwhile, he explained Miss O'Hara's presence in 'Jamaica Inn' and the forthcoming 'Crichton' as an example of Mayflower's desire to build a select little group of stars and 'international names.'"

"If we can do that," he said, "we've got something that's our best guarantee that we're staying in business. So far, we've done it in every picture. In 'The Beachcomber' Robert Newton established himself as a star in the part of the Dutch Contreleur. Tyrone Guthrie, who is one of the best directors of the Old Vic in London, took the part of the missionary mostly as an experiment, to see how well he could do it. The result was so good that we were forced by fan mail to have him in 'London After Dark,' even though his own plans had to be changed to give him the time. In 'London After Dark' we had Vivian Leigh doing the part that many feel helped a lot in having her chosen to play Scarlett O'Hara. And in 'Jamaica Inn' we have Maureen O'Hara, whom we're all sure is going right to the top."

Exactly on cue, just as her name was mentioned, Miss O'Hara walked in. With self-possession which completely belied her 18 years, she answered questions in a brogue which informed all and sundry that she was born in Dublin, lived there until a year and half ago, when she left the school of the famous Abbey Players, and crossed to London, where Laughton and Erich Pommer saw a screen test and offered her the lead in 'Jamaica Inn.' She further explained that Laughton and Pommer had suggested, at the completion of the picture, that she take a trip to Hollywood, to see film-making on the other side of the Atlantic and to have a vacation at the same time. She packed her bags preparatory to departing for the West Coast. As she went back to mother, Laughton sighed loudly.

"What a girl!" he murmured. "What a girl! Any other child of 18, playing her first screen part with a bunch of people who are supposed to be temperamental and tough, would have been scared out of her wits. After the first three days, instead of going ahead with the kindly, paternal little bits of help which Leslie Banks, Emyln Williams, and all the rest of us had planned to give her, we'd all gather around in corners after each take and mutter, 'Did you see her? Did you see her lift that scene right out from under old Charlie's nose? Did you see her give that one look, and make every one forget that name and Leslie are even in the scene?'"

"We wound up by changing her name on the set. We had started by calling her 'Baby' and treating her like one, but after three days we never referred to the child as anything but 'Miss Menace.' And if she ever tries to make me wait until you see her do her stuff. She's a positive menace to any one who plays against her. She'd steal scenes from any one alive today, just by the sheer quality of her acting. I'm convinced of that."

"Mention of 'The Admirable Crichton,' which Laughton's own Mayflower Company will produce for Paramount release, suggesting the paucity of information available on Miss O'Hara, Laughton waved aside the thought that he act as her press agent, and telephoned her room in the hotel to have her come up and talk for herself. Meanwhile, he explained Miss O'Hara's presence in 'Jamaica Inn' and the forthcoming 'Crichton' as an example of Mayflower's desire to build a select little group of stars and 'international names.'"

"If we can do that," he said, "we've got something that's our best guarantee that we're staying in business. So far, we've done it in every picture. In 'The Beachcomber' Robert Newton established himself as a star in the part of the Dutch Contreleur. Tyrone Guthrie, who is one of the best directors of the Old Vic in London, took the part of the missionary mostly as an experiment, to see how well he could do it. The result was so good that we were forced by fan mail to have him in 'London After Dark,' even though his own plans had to be changed to give him the time. In 'London After Dark' we had Vivian Leigh doing the part that many feel helped a lot in having her chosen to play Scarlett O'Hara. And in 'Jamaica Inn' we have Maureen O'Hara, whom we're all sure is going right to the top."

Alternative Bid Sometimes Not "Just as Good"

Players Advised to Give "Third Look" Before Taking Chances.

By Elly Culbertson

IN MANY hands there are alternative bids which at first (and even second) sight seem to have precisely equal chances for success. At such times I strongly advise reader to take a third look. Some consideration may come to light that was previously too subtle or obscure to be perceptible.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 1 spade Pass
3 spades Pass 4 clubs Pass
4 no trump Pass 6 spades Pass

Given the North-South hands as a bidding problem, very few players would detect any flaw in the above sequence. Taking bid by bid, they would have to approve North's one heart opening, South's spade response, and North's double raise. Then they would agree, I think, that South should make some sort of slam try, since he holds much better than North can expect from the noncommittal one spade response.

Since the partnership was using the straight Culbertson system, including the 4-5 no trump convention, South, with only once ace, could not bid four no trump, and his four club bid as a marked cue bid and slam try will be approved generally. But when North, accepting this slam invitation, answers with one of his own (four no trump), South is unable to give all the information that North needs. South cannot respond with five no trump because he has neither two aces, nor one ace and the kings of all bid suits. He lacks the king of his own bid club suit. He cannot overcome this difficulty by jumping in six clubs, hence the best he can do is contract directly for a small slam in spades, the agreed suit. When this comes around to North the latter is hog-tied. For all North knows, South might have the following hand:

♠KJ10xx ♠xxx ♠Kx ♠AKx

If he has a grand slam contract would be at the mercy of a double heart finesse. Patently, then, North cannot bid a grand slam, although on the actual combined holdings this higher contract is well justified.

This brings us to our original thesis, which is that alternative bids may not be quite so "equal" as we assume at first glance. Consider for a moment what would happen if South, instead of bidding four clubs over North's three hearts, were to select the alternative slam try of four diamonds. North, as before, may bid four no trump, but South is in a beautiful position! He can respond with five no trump because he holds one ace and the kings of all bid suits! By bringing the diamond suit, instead of the club suit, into the picture, South has deliberately provided himself with the conventional answer to a four no trump bid which South should suspect that North probably will make!

And there we have the essence of preparedness in bidding, to foresee the probable course of events and lay the foundation for an entire sequence of revealing bids. Obviously, once North knows that South has the club ace and the kings of spades, hearts and diamonds, he needs no courage or optimism to contract for 13 tricks.

Obviously, there is nothing to the play. South merely has to ruff one of dummy's hearts to take, in all four heart tricks, five spades, two diamonds, one club and one diamond ruff in dummy.

And there we have the essence of preparedness in bidding, to foresee the probable course of events and lay the foundation for an entire sequence of revealing bids. Obviously, once North knows that South

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM a girl 27 years old and would like some advice. I have been going with a boy 28, whom I deeply love. We would like to be married, but cannot settle the question about religion. I go to one church and he goes to another. We have been going together a year and a half. I know I will be heartbroken if we part, but I do not think a mixed marriage is so good. Should I turn his way and be happy with him, which I think I would, or should I keep my religion when I may be unhappy without him? B. F. M.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

church and usually the one who finds attendance at one church less important is the one to change. However, some very happily married couples follow different churches and make it a point not to argue religion in the home. If this method is followed, however, you should have a clear understanding as to which religion the children should follow. You should be able to arrive at some compromise.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WILL YOU PLEASE publish the so-called lucky numbers for people born in April, May, October and November, or numbers ending with a certain figure that are supposed to be lucky for persons born in the above-named months. STEADY READER.

I am afraid I am unable to help you out, for while I am acquainted with many of the popular superstitions, I have never encountered the one about lucky numbers. If I knew such numbers, I am sure I would be selfish enough to keep them to myself, and make a fortune by them. I hope you really aren't credulous about such things, and merely ask from curiosity.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WOULD LIKE to say to "White Gloves" that no matter whether she keeps her gloves on during the church service or not, it is unheard of in the Episcopal Church to take communion with any kind of gloves on. AN OLD EPISCOPALIAN.

Thank you for this information.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
MY OHM AND I expect to spend several weeks in August at the New York fair. She says we will have to have a medium-weight wrap, as we cannot go out after sundown without one. I have been told many evenings you do not need any wrap at all and that a light-weight wrap is enough any evening. Is the street-car fare only 5 cents? Are there any open-air operas in the East? How many aisles are there at our Municipal Opera? CHUMS.

The climate in New York is very much the same as in St. Louis. Street-car, bus and subway fares are 5 cents. No open-air operas are playing in the vicinity of New York at the present time. There are seven aisles at Municipal Opera.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM 28 years old and single, and as I've grown older I have found that my friends are getting married and leaving me. It seems hard to make new friends at this age. Do you think I could help myself and other lonesome young men and women to find new friends by starting a correspondence club? Could you suggest how I could go about getting the names of these lonely people? S. D.

This column cannot lend itself to the promotion of such clubs. And it is certainly not too old to make friends, if you really wish to, among people you encounter daily.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM A MAN, 23 years old, engaged to a lady of 27. I have known her for over four months. When I first went out with her she told me she was 23, but after we were engaged she told me she was 27. What I would like to know is would the difference in our ages hurt? My mother does not approve of my going out with her because of the difference in our ages. P. A. G.

This is a matter that depends on the individuals concerned. Some young men are very mature at 23, while others are still too youthful to be on an equal with a woman of 27. While it is certainly an obstacle, it is not an insurmountable one if your tastes, opinions and beliefs are similar. Four months is rather a short time for an engagement, so I would suggest that you let a little time elapse and see if your ages are too far apart for you to be happy.

Medicine's Debt

By Logan Clendenning, M. D.

THE Doctor Consults the Physician is the title of an article by Prof. George R. Harrison in the "Atlantic." It is far more authoritative and valuable than most of the medical articles that fill the current magazines.

Dr. Harrison lists only some of the very recent contributions of physics to medical science—radio, temporary atoms, ultra-microscopes, electric surgical knives, high temperature apparatus—but, indeed, he might have gone further to show that medicine hardly progresses at all until the basic sciences of physics and chemistry begin to be exact. That is why we hesitate today that no one shall be licensed to practice unless he has training in these subjects, an idea which the sects in medicine do not approve.

Improvements in medical instruments of precision are largely due to work in applied science. In New York this spring I saw a new type of microscope which makes our ordinary ones look like toys. And there is yet a newer one, the ultra-microscope, that is based on an entirely new principle. It magnifies a hundred thousand diameters, where our present instruments magnify in the low thousands. The electric knife in surgery sprays high-frequency alternating current into the tissue it cuts, so that the tissue is electrically disinfected and seared, preventing hemorrhage and promoting healing.

Radio men who were working near high-frequency alternating tubes were found occasionally to develop temporary fevers. This lead was used to construct a machine that will cause artificial fevers for curative purposes. It does away with the old cumbersome malaria treatment.

SEEKS "LIBRARY CONSCIOUS" ST. LOUIS

Decreased Income Has Brought City's Public Libraries to Standstill, Charles H. Compton Says

By Marguerite Martyn

WHAT'S to be done about the plight of the libraries? Nothing immediately, although a report of a survey made by Librarian Charles H. Compton plainly shows the public libraries tottering on the brink of something or other.

Nothing can be done without an election which would vote an increase of the library tax of 4 cents per $100 property valuation, and that in these days the prospect is impracticable. Or, in case the Legislature should get around to recognizing libraries as educational institutions and allow them to participate in State aid for education. Or, the possibility of a constitutional convention in 1942 through which more adequate provision may be made for libraries. All very much in the future. But looking to the future, if a suggestion offered by Librarian Compton is approved by the library board at its meeting this fall, you can become "A Friend of the Library" and just by manifesting your friendship be in a position to help a great deal when the time comes. Compton proposes an organization such as those that exist under the name "Friends of the Library" in several cities, the purpose of making the community "library conscious."

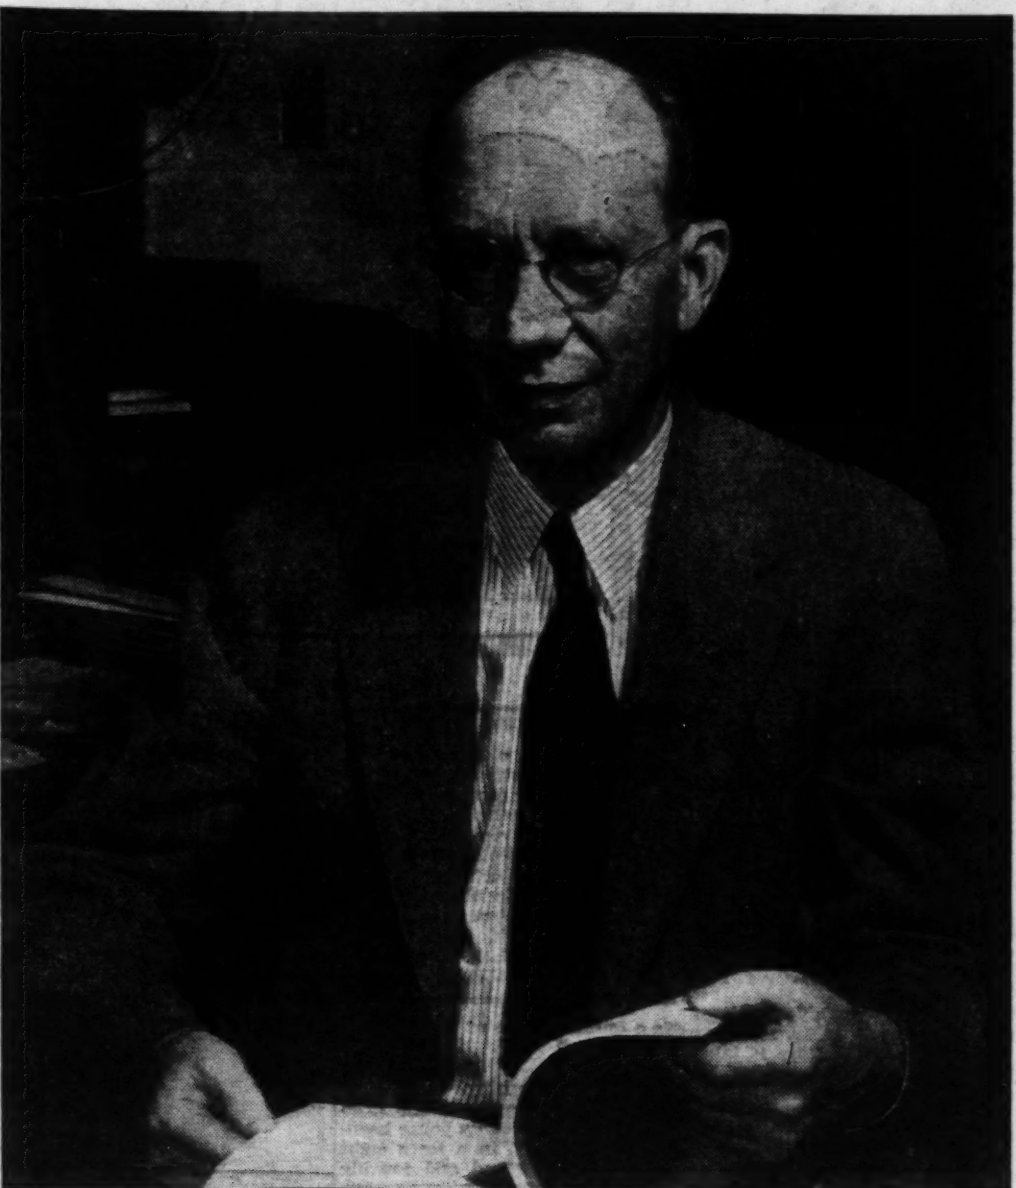

"The nature of such organizations assumes different forms and functions," explained Compton. "In some places they are purely cultural and social, in others they are very practical things. In the St. Louis situation, I favor a democratic organization representing all interests in the community, for the express purpose of building and marshaling public sentiment on behalf of the library. The nucleus of such an organization might well come from among the letter writers who responded to our request last spring for criticisms and appraisals of the libraries. We sent out 1213 copies of this letter, over the signature of the president of our board of directors, to 415 registered borrowers, chosen arbitrarily from certain parts of the alphabet and to 797 men and women prominent in civic, educational and business life of the city, especially officers of local organizations and associations. There were 260 responses. The letters as a whole showed a surprising knowledge of the library, even to minor details of administration. Nearly all had one common characteristic, a real interest in the library and its progress. We are going to see that each respondent receives a copy of the library report for his or her further information and we hope to get the report as widely read as possible by making it available to borrowers."

In the event an organization of the library is effected, the library board will be in a position to do "One," he said, "is by informing people so as to get legislation proposed for proper recognition and to be fully appreciated should be financial support by local and state government bodies. Legislators will do what is made field for endowment funds for the to feel the people want them to purchase of books and desirable collections and for specific purposes that cannot be managed from the budget for essentials. "If someone, for instance," he mused, "would undertake to modernize the lighting system, about which there is so much complaint here at Central Library, that would be a memorial for which he would be blessed down the ages. Or if there could be a donation of the $20,000 to $30,000 needed to cover the cost of reproduction of our newspaper files on microfilm. Complete files of St. Louis newspapers since 1851 probably are our most valuable collection of local material, but those issued since about 1878 on wood pulp paper are disintegrating. What a gift from a historical standpoint their preservation would be!"

THE St. Louis library has three endowment funds already; the George F. Steadman fund of $10,000 for the purchase of books of architecture, the George O. Carpenter fund of $10,000 for the purchase of books not usually allowed for in the regular book fund, and the William Alexander Gregory fund of $10,000 with no restrictions on use. There is also the Julia Wiener fund to which $1370 has been contributed for the purchase of books for the blind. Books purchased from these special funds are given book plates to perpetuate the memory of the donors. There have been other private benefactors whose memory is honored in names of some of the branch libraries.

"There is no immediate emergency," observed the librarian, "no more than has existed for the past 10 years. There is nothing immediate for the reason that no action can be taken about increasing public revenues until it is done by legal process. But it is none too soon to begin building up public sentiment so as to bring legislation about."

A few of the woes of the library brought to light in the Librarian's report are as follows: The income, due to decreased assessment valuations on property, is more than $100,000 less than it was 10 years ago. In 1929 the income was $585,312. In 1933 it was $473,446. The present income must be stretched to cover ever-increasing extension and expansion of library services and constantly increasing use of the libraries. This has had to be done by dint of many things we would like to do to economies that endanger the efficiency of the library. The book

COOK-COOS

By Ted Cook

TOCCATTA. The roof tiles become an organ board at the touch of Rain at night. Rain begins a fugue in dedication to the fertile field and trees. In fragrant blossom now embowered before they bear their golden fruit. Sweeps down across the red-tinged keys in wind-inspired toccatta. Toccatto begins a bright blue Summer skies, the vagrant breeze and fleecy clouds. Toccatto for the beach umbrella-dotted bronzed lifeguards and maids scarce-clad. Toccatto for mountain streams and trout shaded glades, their ferns and grass. Then seriously thunders down a drain once more become a weighty fugue in dedication to the fertile fields and trees. —Donald Button.

LESSON TWO.

ONCE you have the feel of the water and are not afraid, your next step is to pick up the knack of breathing. When you swim you breathe through your mouth. Your mouth should stay open when it is in the water as well as when it is out. Begin in water about up to your chest—or try this in your bathtub, if you like. Take a deep breath and put your face in the water so that chin, mouth and nose are submerged and your eyes are just above the surface. Breathe out slowly—through your mouth. You won't swallow any water, because you are exhaling, not inhaling. When you are ready to inhale again, don't pick your whole face out of the water. Just turn your head to either side so that you are looking at your shoulder. Your mouth will then be out of the water, and you can take in all the air you want. Then drop your face back into the water and exhale again. Keep this up until it comes easily. In turning your head for a breath, don't twist it too far around. Turn just enough to take your mouth out of the water. You can make sure you do not turn too far by fixing your eyes on some object ahead of you. As long as you can see it, you will not be turning too far. Even when your face is in the water keep your gaze fixed on something ahead.

and magazine fund which 10 years ago was approximately $90,000, this year is $50,000. Apportioned out sparingly, some of the branch libraries are able to acquire no more than eight or 10 new books a week.

A table of statistics on comparative salaries compiled by the American Library Association show staff salaries in St. Louis libraries next to the lowest in any of the libraries of 15 cities of over 500,000 population. In one salary classification St. Louis is rated 9. The table establishes that the average salary of a beginning librarian with three years of college and one year of library school, is $1500. In St. Louis not one professionally trained librarian is paid as much to start with the minimum being $1080 per year, the maximum $1410.

THE staff as a whole has been reduced and one economy has been effected by reducing the number of professionally trained librarians from 141 to 121, replacing them by untrained personnel at lower wages. There has been only one promotion to a grade A position, that is, to branch librarian or head of a department, since September, 1929. The library school formerly maintained to train librarians for the staff was suspended in 1932 because the library no longer could offer positions to its graduates.

The standard arrived at by the A. L. A. as a fairly adequate income for a public library system is $1 per capita. The average in the 15 larger cities is 77 cents, the maximum, in Cleveland, $1.98 per capita. The income of the St. Louis library is 58 cents per capita. To serve an area the size of St. Louis adequately, there should be 60 branch libraries, according to A. L. A. surveys. As it is, St. Louis has 20 branch libraries.

"It isn't for want of demand and patronage we are unable to branch out," said Compton. "The most recently built branch, the Carpenter, at Grand and Utah, is the best patronized of all, and its entrance into that territory had no effect whatever on circulation at its nearest neighboring branches. The same would be true if we could have branches in these great vacant spaces," he said, pointing to a map of the city showing wide areas in which there are no public library buildings at all.

"We can stand balanced where we are. We have not yet throughout the past 10 years failed to balance our budget. Times have been even worse, when our income was less and everybody on the staff took a salary cut of 10 per cent. And when in the depths of the depression, the number of unemployed was greatest and consequently the number of books circulated greatest, we all had to work harder for what we got. We can remain at a standstill, as it seems from present resources and indications we shall have to do for some time to come. We cannot branch out and do the many things we would like to do to economies that endanger the efficiency of the library. The book ciency of the library. The book collections and for specific purposes that cannot be managed from the budget for essentials. "If someone, for instance," he mused, "would undertake to modernize the lighting system, about which there is so much complaint here at Central Library, that would be a memorial for which he would be blessed down the ages. Or if there could be a donation of the $20,000 to $30,000 needed to cover the cost of reproduction of our newspaper files on microfilm. Complete files of St. Louis newspapers since 1851 probably are our most valuable collection of local material, but those issued since about 1878 on wood pulp paper are disintegrating. What a gift from a historical standpoint their preservation would be!"

THE St. Louis library has three endowment funds already; the George F. Steadman fund of $10,000 for the purchase of books of architecture, the George O. Carpenter fund of $10,000 for the purchase of books not usually allowed for in the regular book fund, and the William Alexander Gregory fund of $10,000 with no restrictions on use. There is also the Julia Wiener fund to which $1370 has been contributed for the purchase of books for the blind. Books purchased from these special funds are given book plates to perpetuate the memory of the donors. There have been other private benefactors whose memory is honored in names of some of the branch libraries.

"There is no immediate emergency," observed the librarian, "no more than has existed for the past 10 years. There is nothing immediate for the reason that no action can be taken about increasing public revenues until it is done by legal process. But it is none too soon to begin building up public sentiment so as to bring legislation about."

COOK-COOS

By Ted Cook

TOCCATTA. The roof tiles become an organ board at the touch of Rain at night. Rain begins a fugue in dedication to the fertile field and trees. In fragrant blossom now embowered before they bear their golden fruit. Sweeps down across the red-tinged keys in wind-inspired toccatta. Toccatto begins a bright blue Summer skies, the vagrant breeze and fleecy clouds. Toccatto for the beach umbrella-dotted bronzed lifeguards and maids scarce-clad. Toccatto for mountain streams and trout shaded glades, their ferns and grass. Then seriously thunders down a drain once more become a weighty fugue in dedication to the fertile fields and trees. —Donald Button.

LESSON TWO.

ONCE you have the feel of the water and are not afraid, your next step is to pick up the knack of breathing. When you swim you breathe through your mouth. Your mouth should stay open when it is in the water as well as when it is out. Begin in water about up to your chest—or try this in your bathtub, if you like. Take a deep breath and put your face in the water so that chin, mouth and nose are submerged and your eyes are just above the surface. Breathe out slowly—through your mouth. You won't swallow any water, because you are exhaling, not inhaling. When you are ready to inhale again, don't pick your whole face out of the water. Just turn your head to either side so that you are looking at your shoulder. Your mouth will then be out of the water, and you can take in all the air you want. Then drop your face back into the water and exhale again. Keep this up until it comes easily. In turning your head for a breath, don't twist it too far around. Turn just enough to take your mouth out of the water. You can make sure you do not turn too far by fixing your eyes on some object ahead of you. As long as you can see it, you will not be turning too far. Even when your face is in the water keep your gaze fixed on something ahead.

More Advice On Wedding Proprieties

Shower Gifts Require No
Thank You Notes—Age of Flower Girls.

By Emily Post

HERE are additional answers to questions relating to weddings.

8. How shall I sign my thank-you notes?
Answer: Before marriage — to people you don't know very well — you sign your full name, "Mary Margaret Smith." After marriage you sign "Mary Smith Jones" or whatever combination of names you choose for your signature. To your intimate friends you sign yourself "Mary." The only RULE to remember is: Don't under any circumstances sign your name to anyone, Mrs. Jones.

9. Is it necessary to write thank-you notes for shower gifts?
Answer: No, because those presents are usually trifles and "thank you" said as each one is unwrapped is sufficient. If someone was unable to come to the party and sent a present anyway, then, of course, you thank her either by telephone or note.

10. Are girls of about eight years of age considered a little too old for flower girls?
Answer: This depends on the size of the children and also (which I have never thought about before) upon the size of the others in the wedding party. If the men and girls in the bridal party are all tall, then the flower girls could be taller than would otherwise be possible.

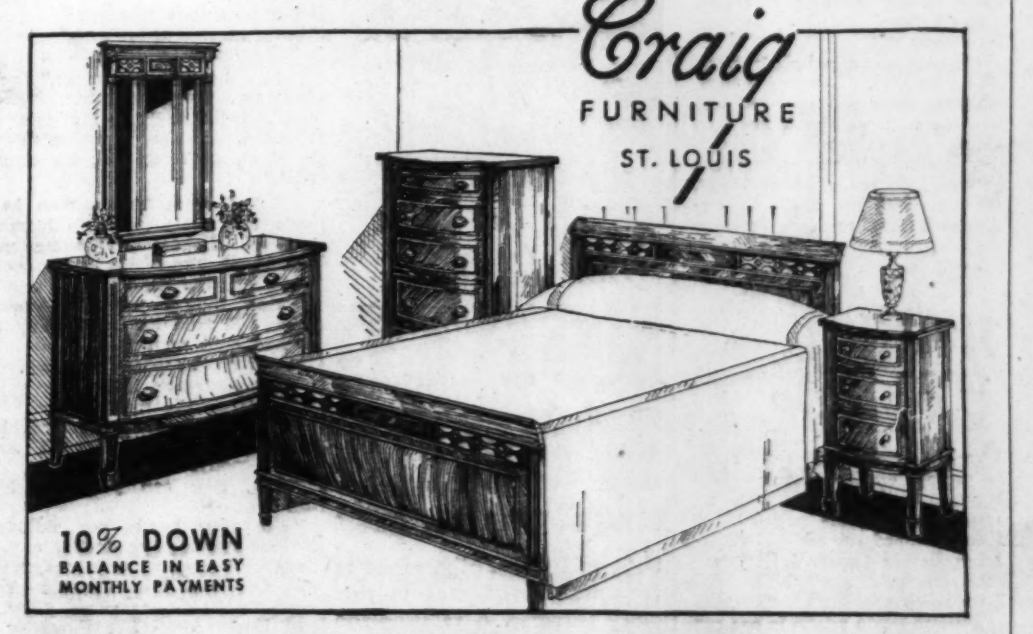

11. Is it necessary for someone to give me away or can I walk down the aisle alone? My mother is a widow.
Answer: You can walk up the aisle alone if there is no man relative or intimate friend of the family to walk with you. And even if a relative or friend does walk with you, your mother can still give her consent from where she stands in the front row.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am giving a lunch party for some visiting friends and would like to give this in a private room of a hotel, instead of at home, because it is difficult having people stay in the house and prepare for a party at the same time. (a) Will this be in good taste? (b) There will be 100 at the lunch table and I would like to know if I can set the table with place cards and whether they should be written Mrs. John Visitor or Mary Visitor.

Answer: (a) Perfectly. (b) Yes, they should all be written with titles. The place cards should be written informally without titles would be at a family party at Christmas or Thanksgiving, for example, when everyone is known to everyone else by first name, i. e., Mother, Fred, Aunt Mary, Uncle John, Lucy, Father, etc.

TRIAL WITHOUT JURY

By James Ronald

CHAPTER TWENTY.

"Oh, by the way," said Mrs. Fleming, as casually as though the matter had only that instant occurred to her, "I have a message for you from Edward. He asked me to say good-by to you for him and make his apologies for not saying it in person. He wanted to come and see you before you went, but the poor boy was in such a rush that he had hardly time to say good-by to me."

"Good-by!" echoed Dorothy, white to the lips. "I—I don't understand."

"No, you'd hardly have heard would you? It was all so sudden. You see, Mr. Fleming's firm is carrying through some delicate negotiations in Washington on behalf of a Bradbury manufacturer and, since Edward joined the firm recently, his father thought it would be good experience for him to assist in the negotiations."

"Oh!" Crushed and subdued, that murmured Dorothy.

"He left right after lunch and is on his way to Washington now."

"Sudden? Well, yes."

"How long will he be gone?"

"I really don't know, my dear. Six months or a year at least, perhaps more. There is a possibility that when he leaves Washington he will go into the office of a New York law firm for a few years, for the sake of experience."

"I see."

Mrs. Fleming leaned forward and placed a cool hand on the girl's arm.

"I know it must be a shock to you, my dear, to find that your childhood playmate has grown up and gone away, but none of us stay children forever, you know, and men have work in the world to do. I shall always be grateful to you and your family for taking him into your home as a child and making him one of you. I know he regards you all almost as brothers and sisters. An only child can be very lonely, and you have done more for him than I can say—but he is not a child any longer and his world has grown far beyond the limits of this little village."

"Why do you emphasize the word 'child'?" asked Dorothy unsteadily.

"Ted is 25 and I am 23. Neither of us have been children for quite a long time."

Before replying, Mrs. Fleming took time to pour fresh tea.

"You are both very young and inexperienced," she said at last.

"Charmingly young and inexperienced," murmured Dorothy, with a sob in her voice.

"I know, my dear, and I believe me, I am sorry for you. I am afraid you are in for a terrible time. There will be a great deal of mud thrown and some of it is bound to stick. Life will be made unbearable for you. I have an idea. An old friend of mine writes every year in Florida and she writes me that she's looking for a companion for her daughter, who is a little younger than you. I'm sure if I suggested it, she'd be only too glad to take you. You would be away from all the unpleasantness which is sure to surround your family. Down there, with my friends, no one would dream of connecting you with this terrible affair."

"You are very kind," said Dorothy; "but—no, thanks. Just now you said that it was your duty to think of your son. It is equally my duty to think of my family. At a time of trouble my place is with them."

"I feel quite sure your mother would rather you were out of it all."

"I know she would, but that is not the point. If my father and mother, my brothers and sisters, are to suffer, I shall suffer with them."

In the stress of her emotion, Dorothy forgot the sensation-seeking back outside her home. Her eyes misty with tears, she came out of the Fleming's gate, turned right along the road, and ran straight into it. She almost had to fight her way through the surging mob which showed and scrambled for a glimpse of her.

"Look! There she is."

"That's the oldest girl."

"It was her scarf the murder was done with."

"Look! She's crying!"

Blinded by tears, Dorothy stumbled into the house. She went into the dining room, collapsing on an old leather couch in a corner. There Ann and Michael found her, quivering with pain, torn from her feet by great shuddering sobs.

"Dorothy!" cried Ann, panic-stricken. "Dorothy, darling!"

"What is it?" gasped Michael. "The crowd outside, I suppose? Gee, I'd like to shoot 'em all!"

"It isn't only them," wept Dorothy. "It's Ted as well."

"Ted?" frowned Michael. "What's he done?"

"He's gone away."

"The worm!" declared Ann, with vitriol in her tone.

"Don't say that. It isn't true."

"Only a worm would wriggle away at a time like this."

"His parents made him."

"The snobs!" cried Ann.

"No, they're not snobs," said Dorothy, more calmly.

"They aren't deliberately doing this to hurt me. It's only that they've got to think of their son; he comes first."

"If Ted were half a man he'd have told them to go to blazes," growled Michael. "Ditching you because they're afraid of the scandal! Oh, it's all so unfair. It isn't as though you'd done anything. It isn't as though any of us had done anything."

"Isn't it?" asked Ann quietly. They stared at her.

"What do you mean?"

"You don't think an outsider killed Aunt Octavia, do you?" Ann asked coolly.

"Ann, how can you talk like that?"

"Use your heads, my children. No one had an opportunity of killing her except us. Osborne, Hannah Gale and Miss Mimms. You don't think Mimms would kill her and throw away five thousand a year for life, do you—even if she had the nerve, which she hasn't?"

That leaves us Osborne and Hannah, and she's one of the family. The police are playing a game of 'Who's Got the Button' with us. They know one of us did it and they're going to move heaven and earth to find out which. Are we going to help them? I wonder."

"But, Ann—" interrupted Dorothy.

"It's a question of someone's life," continued Ann. "The life of one of us. Father, Mother, Marjory, Peter, Hannah; you, Dorothy; you, Michael—and me. Do we care which of us did it? Do we care who's going to hang the guilty one?"

"Lord, no!" shuddered Michael. "Very well, then; what should we say or do?"

"Ann!" gasped Dorothy suddenly. "It wasn't—You didn't—"

"That," said Ann very earnestly, the same distance from Bradbury. It sounded again.

"Two rings," said Sergeant Feathers, looking up from his desk. "That's you, Inspector."

"I've got ears, my boy."

Inspector Burrows rose ponderously and left the room. He plodded along a whitewashed passage and pushed open a door.

The Sheriff's room was more like a study than an office. The floor was covered by a fawn carpet, tailored to fit snugly the angles and eccentricities of the baseboards. Beneath the window lay a magnificent Alsatian dog which pricked its ears, half rose, and growled softly at the Inspector's entrance. Sheriff Black spoke to it sharply and it lay down again, stretching full-length, its black eyes fixed unblinkingly on Inspector Burrows' face. Round the walls, which were papered in dark green, hung a collection of sporting prints; and in the corner stood a cigar cabinet. In the center of the room stood a walnut desk, on which a morning newspaper was spread out. Inspector Burrows glanced slightly at his eyes lighted on it.

"Mornin', Burrows," said Sheriff Black coldly. He was standing straddle-legged behind the desk.

"Good mornin', Sheriff."

"Seen the papers?"

"One or two of 'em."

"Well!"—the Inspector shifted un-comfortably—"they seem to agree pretty well with my—with our theory."

"And what is our theory?"

"Well, Sheriff, we know almost to a certainty that one of the family committed the murder."

Russian Beet Casserole

Three cups of beets that have been cooked, peeled and then put through a potato ricer, one tablespoon lemon juice, one teaspoon each of minced green pepper and minced onion. Blend together and turn into a buttered casserole. Sprinkle with crumbled crumbs and grated cheese over the top and bake until nicely browned. Unusual and good.

Cheese Bars

Two cups pastry flour. Four teaspoon baking powder. One-fourth teaspoon salt. One-fourth teaspoon paprika. Three tablespoons fat. Two-thirds cup grated yellow cheese. Two-thirds cup milk. Mix together the flour, baking powder, salt and paprika. Cut in the fat with a knife. Mixing with the knife, add the cheese and milk.

Pat out the soft dough until it is half an inch thick. Cut into thin strips and bake seven minutes on baking sheets in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP).—False State and come-tax returns were filed by Rathford Engineering Co. my concern which operated under the name of Rathford City Hall, two witnesses today at a deposition by the city's suit to recover from the firm. The money paid out to the Rathford "water-leak surveys." Joseph G. Halpin, a late Carl D. Higgins, an ex-politically favored B. Construction Co., said the returns. Both were paid the Rathford company. they followed orders in associated with the under. An effort to strike out, ences to the late William company formed by the leaks for the city at $500,000. The attorney, A. N. Adams, O. S. Hill, special commissioner pointed by the Circuit Court take the depositions, that timony concerning Boyle ties was incompetent be city's petition was based spiracy charge and not on damages to recover the. "Therefore the action of is one that died with the Mr. Boyle," Adams declared commissioner did not rule on the motion.

Boyle Power Behind John J. Rathford, head Rathford Engineering Co. collected the money for leak surveys," told the court Boyle was the power behind company formed to buy leaks for the city at $500,000. Pendergast's State records were obtained by county's grand jury at the same time it gave e. three of his associates, O'Malley, former State Superintendent, John J. Justice of the Peace Gil Pendergast and O'Malley serving Leavenworth sentences for evading Federal taxes and the jury ascertain if they paid State full.

Ben Nordberg, Deputy Sitor, took the records to A week ago he declined to der them, asserting the prohibition him from revealing information. State Auditor Smith announced he would rate in the inquiry and acted yesterday on Smith's Son-in-Law Did No V testimony that Pendergast in-law, William E. Burnes, ceived $200 monthly from Rathford Engineering Co. heard by Hill, yesterday. Rathford said Burnett work but even drew a "fiction" salary in advance. Rathford said Burnett "take" each month, was as Boyle, who was killed by last year when watching tournament.

Rathford testified it was demanding at first that it was to be done for the of $60,000 but that when it had been collected Boyle to keep right on with it a month.

Rathford received $400 from the company, which from the city during Mc administration. He said at Boyle ordered pay cuts, plained, "We can't cut B. nett."

City Counselor Sam Blations Rathford. Pryor, in the grand jury for his scandal, as in the rear of a did Burnett.

Although the company Rathford's name and at the was a $140 monthly employ City Water Department, Boyle was the power be concern and shaped its policies.
